Foreward

"May the bonds and ties of friendship which have held us together during these four high school years, not be forgotten but cherished in our memories through this annual of nineteen hundred and thirty-one"

Dedication

In grateful recognition of the great debt we owe to him as the first teacher and missionary in the Tuscarawas Valley, we, the class of nineteen hundred and thirty-one, dedicate our Delphian to the memory of

SNOW

Soft as the footfall of a cat
With tasty prey in sight—
Light as a mother's gentle touch,
The snowflakes fall at night
Covering the world with a fleecy robe,
All soft and virgin white.

Covering a world that is drab and gray,
With finery from the clouds,
Floating with a fairy-like touch
In the face of hurrying crowds,
Veiling the bareness of the earth,
The loveliest of lovely shrouds.

—Vera Robb, '32.

IT PAYS

It pays to wear a smiling face
And laugh our troubles down,
For all our little trials wait
Our laughter or our frown.
Beneath the magic of a smile
Our doubts will fade away,
As melts the frost in early spring
Beneath a sunny ray.

—Mildred Heck, '32.

OUR FACULTY

Who is always ready to lend a hand
And tell us which way to turn?
To help us in any way that they can
To make our decisions firm?
Our Faculty!

Whom do we hold as fine and dear?
In whom do we put our trust
That when good deeds of ours they hear
That they will be proud of us?
Our Faculty!

Then here's to our faculty, bless their hearts,
So brave, so tried, so true!
To them goes the credit for our good marks
So now three cheers for you.
Our Faculty!

SAILING

We are sailing out of the harbor;
Life's voyage has just begun,
We are sailing into the future
With our faces turned toward the sun.

Some will be sailing to lands afar
While others may never roam;
But our memories will always cherish
The friendship we made at home.

Kind teachers have guided our voyage
That leads to the future so bright,
To them we'll owe our successes
When we've reached the greatest height.

It matters not where our ship may sail
So long as our hearts are true,
There is a place for each one in life
Which no one can fill but you.

So come what may, let's sail away
With our course marked straight and true,
Though billows roll and toss us about
We'll always come smiling through.

FAITHFUL PHILA HIGH

O, to be a Junior again,
To share in their joys and in their woes,

THE JUNIORS

We, the Juniors, are certainly proud
But o'er us the Seniors cast a cloud,
The Sophomores take note of us
But the Seniors look over us,
With their haughty stare
As though we weren't there.

But next year is our year
And also our turn—
To make the Juniors fear
And to have them learn—
That we are the mighty and they the weak
And that to us they dare not speak.

TO THE SENIORS

Once we the class of '32
Just lived in actual awe,
To see a lofty Senior
Ambling down the hall.

But now as nearer comes the time,
When we say "goodbye" to you,
We wonder how we'll fit your place,
This class of '32.

Don't think that we'll forget you,
For through the corridors of time,
We'll treasure and remember you,
As in this silly rime.

"Parting is such sweet sorrow"
Shakespeare is known to say,
But somehow, it seems rather hard,
As nears our parting day.

So dropping all our jealousies,
And with a little sigh,
We take our rightful privileges
In bidding you "goodbye."

—O. Riley.

JUST A LITTLE HINT

Perhaps there is someone in our class
Who will be much noted in years to come.
Ruth Buckley may be the first lady president,
And Dale Cordray might fly to the sun.

Ruth Fair may become a very famous musician;
Eddie James, a specialist in manufacturing cars.
Edith Bitterman might be the wisest scientist,
And learn how to talk with the people on Mars.

Of course there are many, many other things
Which make people famous, you know.
Such as authors, painters, and doctors,
Or movie stars like Clara Bow.

But I am sure that the one who takes this little hint
Will receive the greatest fame.
Just invent a machine for working geometry
Without having to use your brain.

FIRST SCHOOL IN OHIO

SCHOENBRUNN

LOCATED approximately one mile east of New Philadelphia is the historical village of Schoenbrunn, founded in the year 1772, by David Zeisberger and a company of Christian Indians. These people arrived in the section then known as "Big Spring" on May 3rd, and began the erection of the first town in Ohio. Later in the year more Indian converts arrived at the settlement and by the end of the year, the village consisted of sixty houses, small huts, a church and a school house.

The inhabitants of Schoenbrunn consisted chiefly of missionaries and Indian converts from other mission towns in Pennsylvania.

The sincere Christian faith of these missionaries and their converts and their devotion to the cause of Christ lead to the forming of the first temperance and the first peace society west of the Allegheny Mountains. These pioneers prohibited the use of liquor in their village, and they would not go to war.

This little village prospered in the first few years of its existence, but the beginning of the Revolutionary War in the east placed them in a very dangerous position because they were located between the English at Detroit and the Americans at Ft. Pitt. Moreover according to their beliefs they would not go to war.

Conditions grew worse and finally on April 19, 1777, Zeisberger and a band of followers left the site of their beloved homes and made their way south to the next settlement of Lichtenau near the present town of Coshocton.

Before leaving the village, all the converts with Zeisberger and the other missionaries held a last devotional service in the church. After the service, the church building was destroyed in order to prevent any desecration of it by hostile Indians. A few years later the whole village was burned.

In addition to his arduous work as a missionary and teacher David Zeisberger wrote the first school book for Ohio. It was a spelling book and contained in addition songs, the Ten Commandments, and The Lord's Prayer.

DEBATE

THE question issued by the Ohio State Debating League, and debated by our school this year was "Resolved, that chain stores are detrimental to the best interests of the United States public." The first debates of the season took place on January 15, 1931, when the Newcomerstown negative met the New Philadelphia affirmative at New Philadelphia. The same evening the Red and Black negative debated the Dover affirmative at Dover. Both of the New Philadelphia teams won and were very much elated over their victories.

On January 22, the affirmative debaters journeyed to Martin's Ferry where they met the Martin's Ferry negative. The contest was a close one, but the affirmative team lost by a small margin. The next night the New Philadelphia negative clashed with the Uhrichsville affirmative on the local floor, and won their second victory.

The last debates in the league were a disappointment to both teams. The New Philadelphia affirmative was defeated by the Senecaville negative in a contest held before the local student body. Nevertheless the debate was very much enjoyed by the students, and the affirmative proved themselves capable debaters. The same day, January 29, the Red and Black negative lost to the St. Clairsville affirmative at St. Clairsville in an interesting and extremely close debate.

The negative team participated in a post-season debate with Barberton on March 20. The New Philadelphia debaters won this last contest of the year.

MEMORIES

I sat in school one wintry day
And I was going asleep;
The day was cold and gloomy,
And the snow was piling deep.

I slept and dreamed I was very old
Confined to a large wheel chair,
Near me were high school students,
And I whispered "It isn't fair,

"That they should be young and able
And happy; but then I guess,
I've had my day and enjoyed myself
In dear old N. P. H. S."

ATHLETICS

MR. BAUER Coach

We consider ourselves lucky to have had "Happy" for our coach this year. Although we have had disappointments this year, "Happy's" spirit has kept us going. Good luck, Coach!

MR. BRICKELS
..... Assistant Coach

"Brick" surely has been an able assistant, doing wonders to improve the playing of the team. "Happy" and "Brick" are a peach of a pair.

J. K. LAWRENCE
..... Student Manager

J. K. always had the field in good playing condition and the players could always depend upon him.

MR. LEEKA
..... Faculty Manager

Mr. Leeka's pleasant smile and willingness to help were an inspiration to the team. We hope you'll be with us next year.

HAROLD ROLLI
"Abie"—Quarterback

Through a very difficult schedule "Abie", our captain, piloted the Quakers satisfactorily. We envy the college which wins "Abie."

MELVIN CARPENTER
"Melvy"—Center

Although this was "Melvy's" first year at football, he was seldom outplayed. "Melvy" has two more years to play with the Quakers.

JOE ZURCHER
Fullback

Say, did you hear those bones crack? Well, that was just Joe hitting the line.

DEAN KUHN
"Coonie"—End

Dean was the one who could always pull the team out of the "dumps" with his good jokes.

ROBERT HIXSON
"Hicky"—End

Did you see that streak going down the field? That was "Hicky" going down under a punt.

ARTHUR EARLE
"Art"—Guard

Art's rough and tough and hard to bluff, so we expect Art to play guard for N. P. H. S. next year.

WENDELL BYRD
"Windy"—Half-back

"Windy" was a great half-back as we already had found in his two previous years.

EARL MATHIAS
"Mateese"—Guard

When the opposing fullback attempted to crack the center of the line, he ran into tough opposition.

GEORGE STAHL

"Porgy"—Guard

Because of "Porgy's" great weight very few opposing tackles could block him out. After this year's experience he will be a wonder.

RICHARD FRAZIER

"Dick"—Tackle

Considering his size, Dick is one of the fastest players that ever wore a Quaker suit.

GEORGE JOHNSTON

Half-back

"Little but mighty" is the best phrase to explain George. George surely had a way of evading the opposing team.

CECIL BYRD

"Nigger"—Half-back

Although "Cec" was hindered by an injured leg, he easily won his "P".

JOHN EDIE

Tackle

This was John's first year at football. We regret that John is a senior this year.

RAYMOND THOMAS

"Raym"

"Raym" is quite a versatile player because he can play end and then be shifted to center. Few players can do this.

CHARLES GROSS

"Chuck"—End

This was "Chuck's" third year in Quaker football circles, and because of his experience he was of great help to the line.

PAUL OLMSTEAD

"Paully"—Half-back

Although this was "Paully's" first year of Senior High school football, he easily held down a berth in the Quaker backfield.

GAMES

SEPTEMBER—19 Dennison 0—N. P. H. S.—6

The first night football game played in the history of Tuscarawas County. Captain Rolli intercepted a Dennison heave and ran 50 yards for a touchdown, the only score of the game.

SEPTEMBER—26 Toronto 18—N. P. H. S.—8

The Quakers were completely submerged in a vast sea of mud and drenched in a cloudburst during the first half. The Quakers, coming to life in the second half, scored their eight points and held their opponents scoreless.

OCTOBER—4 E. Liverpool 20—N. P. H. S.—0

The score tells the tale. Nuf sed!

OCTOBER—11 Wooster 6—N. P. H. S.—12

The Quakers recovered from their slump with a victory over Wooster. This was a great game and Wooster was outclassed in every period.

OCTOBER—17 Salem 40—N. P. H. S.—0

The score tells a sad, sad story of defeat. Need more be said?

OCTOBER—24 Newcomerstown 6—N. P. H. S.—20

The Quakers scrubs were unable to hold Newcomerstown the first half, but the second half, the Quaker regulars scored 20 points over the fighting Trojans.

NOVEMBER—1 Alliance 13—N. P. H. S.—6

The Quakers outfought the "beefy aviators" from Alliance; hence this was a moral victory. The Quakers will be out to clip the aviators' wings next year.

NOVEMBER—7 Coshocton 0—N. P. H. S.—0

Again the Redskins bit the dust. With a full moon hanging over the field, the team were regular bearcats.

NOVEMBER—15 Uhrichsville 6—N. P. H. S.—12

Not a victory for Uhrichsville in twenty-eight years. Our hopes rise. On to Dover!

NOVEMBER—29 Dover 13—N. P. H. S.—7

The most unusual game in our football history—a game postponed. Although Dover did not have the best team, they got the breaks and carried off the victory.

CHARLES GROSS "CHUCK"—Captain—Guard.

This was Charles' third year on the varsity. The fact that the team elected him captain shows that he was one who could be relied upon. Good luck next year, Chuck.

DALE PLATZ—Student Manager.

"Where are my socks." "Who took my shirt?" These are a few things that weren't heard around the dressing room this year. Why? Just for the simple reason that we had a capable manager. Because Dale was always so willing to help any one in trouble, the boys will all hate to see him graduate.

CECIL BYRD

Guard

"Cec" is a guard who stays as cool as ice. He usually scores more points than his opponents. So long till next year, "Cec".

GEORGE PORTER

Center

George, our tallest player, has out-jumped every center this year. Next year Porter will again jump "three feet" for N. P. H. S.

MILLER SHONK

Forward

Although "Dutch" just played the second semester, he easily won his letter. Dutch can do anything with a basketball except make it disappear.

GLEN TAYLOR

Forward

Although this is Glen's first year with the varsity, he certainly has "pepped up" the team. Good luck to you and the varsity next year, Glen.

ROBERT HAMMOND

"Bear Cat"—Guard

"Bob" was "up against" tough opposition this year and didn't have a chance to show what he could do.

CLAYTON WOLF

Forward

Even though this was Pete's first year on the varsity, he was all fight. Be on hand next year, Pete, to fight for the Quakers.

JOE ZURCHER

"Joe"—Guard

Because of his "varsity" experience in his Sophomore year, Joe should be a very valuable player in his Junior and Senior years.

KARL SMITH

"Smitty"—Forward

Smitty won his "P" this year even though he wasn't in every game.

BASKETBALL GAMES

- DENNISON—11 N. P. H. S.—21
Zis. Bam! Boom!—off goes the lid of the Quaker basketball schedule with a victory.
- ALUMNI—28 N. P. H. S.—16
The old boys showed us that they still had a little basketball in them, when they easily outwitted the Quakers.
- MASSILLON—23 N. P. H. S.—15
Although the Quakers outplayed the Tigers, they were unable to connect when they needed the points.
- DOVER—17 N. P. H. S.—16
Although the team was all fight, they couldn't come through with their "free throws."
- COSHOCTON—17 N. P. H. S.—22
The team sure were clicking on their long shots. The Redskins didn't have a chance.
- SALEM—36 N. P. H. S.—23
The Quakers fought valiantly but Salem was just "too tough."
- UHRICHSVILLE—19 N. P. H. S.—16
The Quakers, not being used to playing in a bird cage, could not connect with the hoop.
- AKRON WEST—26 N. P. H. S.—18
The superior shooting of this Akron team defeated the Red and Black. Tough luck.
- BARBERTON—24 N. P. H. S.—19
Barberton came here with a strong team, and they used every bit of their strength in sneaking home their victory.
- UHRICHSVILLE—24 N. P. H. S.—21
I guess this team must be our jinx; they defeated us again.
- NEWCOMERSTOWN—18 N. P. H. S.—23
Newcomerstown fought like Trojans but the Quakers showed their superiority in the last quarter.
- WOOSTER—26 N. P. H. S.—27
The longest game the Quakers played this year. Phila made the winning bucket in the second overtime period.
- DOVER—22 N. P. H. S.—23
Revenge is sweet. The Quaker strategy was what won this game.
- DENNISON—19 N. P. H. S.—35
The Quakers certainly hit their stride tonight to battle down a fighting Denison five.
- CAMBRIDGE—26 N. P. H. S.—18
The Cambridge Brownies thought they would have an easy time, but they found that they had to fight for everything they got.
- TOURNAMENT
- BRIDGEPORT—17 N. P. H. S.—22
Phila easily won through the first round of the tournament defeating the Ohio river town.
- DOVER—23 N. P. H. S.—18
Defeat is bitter. The score doesn't give the facts of the game, because the Quakers outplayed the Crimson for three quarters.

H. A. STOUGHTON Coach

The Quakers lost their only dual meet to Millersburg and were also beaten at Uhrichsville. The Little Big Ten meet at Salem was a big success, but the competition was too tough for the Red and Black. N. P. H. S. also took part in the sectional meet at Salem and in the district meet held at New Concord.

The five letter men are the last to receive "their wings" from the New Philadelphia High School because track is being discontinued here.

LITERARY

TWILIGHT

*"The summer day is closed, the sun is set;
Well they have done their office, those bright hours,
The latest of whose train goes brightly out
In the red west."*

—Bryant.

Drawing the curtain over the old world at the close of a summer day will always seem to me to be one of the most beautiful pictures to be seen.

The great ball of fire slowly sinking over our hills, throwing out the most gorgeous colorings to the whole sky! No artist could ever create the delicate shadings and brilliant hues that nature so generously bestows upon us. Then comes the last glimpse we have of our brilliant sun. A few faint stars appear, peeking from the blue canopy. A sweet silence has fallen upon the earth. It is truly a time for meditation.

The minds of all the people seem to be at rest. Children lay aside their playthings, mothers rest after a long and weary day, and fathers, too, seem to forget their burdens. To all of them comes the peace and restfulness at the close of day.

Venus, the beautiful moon goddess, slowly wends her way among the stars as if glad that she too can shed her light on a world which is at rest. But only for a brief time does twilight rule; then comes night with her cloak of forgetfulness.

CHARLOTTE SHARP, '33.

TRUTH

It is true
That when one has encountered
The icy stare of a haughty senior,
When one is only a junior
One feels as if one were only
An ant.
But when one studies science
And learns the size of the universe,
And discovers that in reality
One is quite as much as a senior
One feels, I assure you
Much better.

It is also true
That when one has received,
Only criticism for an act attempted
One feels that life is not worth while;
In the whole world there is not one who is
One's friend,
But when one receives praise
For a task attempted and completed,
Praise and kindness from a fellow man,
One feels that life is worth while
And that all the world is
One's friend.

—Jeannette Cordray.

CHEWING GUM

OF course, I know that "they say" that chewing gum is a disgusting habit and is never practiced by the "best people", but just the same there are many times when this great American habit helps a lot. It is the best thing I know to relieve the feelings in an exciting football or basketball game. It has the same effect in a critical situation as pacing the floor. And, the solace of chewing gum during a stiff examination!

However, I suppose that it isn't any fun for a teacher to stand in front of a class and try to teach a lesson in time to the "perpetual" motion of the jaws of her scholars. About one day of that and I would throw toleration to the winds and "slam" a book at a half dozen of those jaws, (and lose my job for being too temperamental). That is the reason that I agree with teachers that chewing gum should be prohibited in the class room. To be sure, I have been guilty of this offense more than once and had to take a little journey to the waste basket at the request of the teacher and to the great amusement of the class.

Outside of school, however, gum chewing can't be stopped no matter how hard one tries, for the American people will continue to snap their gum until the end of time and the chewing gum manufacturers will keep on getting richer.

ELIZABETH THOMAS, '32.

THOUGHTS OF SPRING

'Tis good to know that spring is near,
Each morn, at dawn, the birds I hear;
As gentle zephyrs stir the trees,
One almost hears the drone of bees.
King Winter surely must be leaving,
And I, for one, shall not be grieving.
—Helen Schlegel.

14. Joe "Paddock" Baxter's vivacity—great bargain!!
15. The Senior Class' well-illustrated and autographed text books. Antiques of the notables.
16. Rubber "Lab" aprons to be worn while operating the drinking fountains. Must be sold.
17. Earl Mathias's football career—at regretful sale.
18. "Bill" Belknap's "nonchalant" air. To be sold wholesale.
19. M. F. Jenkin's movie magazines to be used in "spare study periods."
20. High School Building, damaged property.

To the first five people appearing on the scene of this auction we will guarantee passing grades for the year of 1932.

Signed—The Senior Class of '31.

OUR FRENCH CLASS

Our French class is a funny place
Ignorance written on every face.
Some, of course, think they know it all,
But look so dumb when they are called.

Jimmy Edwards can't pronounce
Betty Scott just loves to bounce,
In and out the room you know
For her pretty clothes to show.

Marjorie Orr knows quite a bit
All Kenneth Weaver does is sit,
Mildred Heck comes next it seems
When she answers, teacher beams.

Mary Jane Robb is smart as a whip
Hazel Jenkins never opens her lips,
Ruth Mitchell is as quiet as a mouse
You'd never know she was in the house.

Johnny Winters likes his gum
Jane Thomas is chuck full of fun.
Miss Beaber teaches so we should learn;
This, we leave to Evelyn Sterns.

Bob Hixon is our quietest boy;
Always, our quietest girl is Joy,
Schweitzer, whom teacher never needs
To scold, as she does Mildred Reed.

Jane Marsh thinks in terms of Dover;
Curtis Pollock is quite a rover.
Our class beauty is Vera Robb.
Lucille Keriakis has the latest bob.

Alice Shipley, our old-fashioned girl,
Always wears her hair in a curl.
Arline Ladrach, our basketball center,
Never returned the pencils we lent her.

Betty Thomas is teacher's pet
She also plays a clarinet.
Ledra Miller, the biggest pest,
Never will let anyone rest.

We've tried to tell you of our class
We wonder if you'll let it pass
We hope you won't be angry much
For we don't want to get in Dutch.

Two French Pupils,
L. M. and L. K.

JOKES

Wendell Byrd: "What makes you so strong, Cecil?"
Cecil: "I eat rock candy, brick ice cream, and marble cake."

Traffic Officer Stewart (to Raymond Packer sitting in Riley's restaurant):
"Your car awaits without."
Raymond (brightly): "Without what?"
Stewart: "Without lights and here's your ticket."

Max Kislig (writing theme): "Hey, Omie, what do they call those tablets
the Gauls used to write on?"
Paul Olmstead: "Gaul stones."

Miss Alberson: "What was the matter with Austria?"
Donald Laird: "Why there were too many sexes there."

Mrs. Dallas: "I cook and cook all day for you and what do I get for it?
Nothing!"
Mr. Dallas: "You're lucky. I get indigestion."

John Robb (in Shorthand): "If it would be B, what would it be?"
Miss Barnhard: "If it's B it would be Be."

Gladys Youngen: "Doctor, do you think this anesthetic will make me sick?"
Doctor: "No, I think not."
Gladys: "How long do you think it will be before I know anything?"
Doctor: "Don't you think that is asking a lot of an anesthetic?"

"It isn't because it's cheaper that so many people eat in cafeterias; it is more homelike; you wait on yourself."

Mr. Findley: "Do you know what kind of leather makes the best shoes,
J. K.?"

J. K. Lawrence: "No, I don't, but I know that banana skins make the best slippers."

Chuck: "Say, Bob, do you know how to make a peach cordial?"
Bob: "Sure, send her a box of candy."

Kaylor: "What are the three dimensions?"
Anne Gross: "Earth, air and water."

The Delphian

Mr. Bender: "Define the middle Ages."

Dean Kuhn: "They used to be 30 to 45 but now they're 50 to 70."

First Angel: "How did you get here?"

Second Ditto: "Flu."

Ann Cooke: "What do you think of those girls who imitate men?"

Cecil Byrd: "They're idiots."

Ann: "The imitation is perfect then, huh?"

Frank Hurst: "I think the driver in that car ahead of me must be one of my Sophomore teachers."

Frazier: "What makes you think so?"

Hurst: "Well, she was so stubborn about letting me pass."

Mrs. Rolli: "Do you like moving pictures, Abie?"

Abie: "Why, sure, you know that."

Mrs. Rolli: "Well, then, maybe you'll help me get a half a dozen down out of the attic."

Miss Helmick: "What do we do to kill germs in milk?"

Hazel Smith: "Oh, they paralyze the germs."

Stranger: "I represent a society for the prevention of profanity. I want to take profanity entirely out of your life and—"

Dick F.: "Hey, Mother! here's a man who wants to buy our car."

Mr. Stahl: "Charles, my boy, your lessons are suffering. Do you need a coach?"

Charles: "Gee! thanks a lot, Dad, but I think a roadster will do."

Mr. Kaylor (in American History class): "What effect did John Paul Jones' fleet in the English channel have upon the English?"

Homer Ricker: "It stopped the fishing."

When Miss Beaber was abroad last summer, a guide took her to see Hamlet. "You certainly are behind the times here," remarked Miss Beaber. "I saw this play four years ago in Cleveland."

The English literature class was discussing Milton's "Il Penseroso," and had come to the passage: "And may at last my weary age Find out the peaceful hermitage, The hairy gown and mossy cell."

Miss Baker: "Explain the hairy gown."

John Robb: "Why, that must be like the coat Mr. Baker wears."

The Delphian

Mr. Findley: "Why did you quit working?"

Bob Hammond: "They did something that I didn't like very well."

Mr. Findley: "What was that?"

Bob: "They fired me."

June Romig: "So you were stopped by a sterner traffic cop than usual."

Anne Gross: "Yes, I had to smile at him three times before he dismissed the charge."

Mechanic: "Do you ever have a miss in your motor?"

Edwin Kaylor: "Well, yes! That is, about twice a week."

Boots: "Dad, you are a lucky man."

Mr. Rosenberry: "How is that?"

Boots: "You won't have to buy me any school books this year."

Mr. Rosenberry: "Why?"

Boots: "I am taking all of last year's work over."

Miss Stockwell (In Macbeth Class): "Explain the line; "We have scotched the snake, not killed it."

Tony Barnish: "Why—I guess it means they made the snake drunk."

W. Evans: "I think I shall go into the chicken raising business when I am out of school."

E. Mathias: "You would better try owls; their hours would suit you better."

M. Malley (Cleaning up after a picnic lunch): "Isn't this an ideal place for a picnic lunch?"

D. Laird: "It must be; ten million flies can't be wrong."

Lives of Seniors all remind us

We should strive to do our best,

And departing leave behind us

Note books that will help the rest.

CALENDAR 1930-31

MEMORIES

At last the day has come,
That day when we should leave the grade school far behind
And board the ship of dreams called Welty High.
Deep down in our hearts, however,
Although we wouldn't have confessed it,
Was a feeling almost unexplainable,
A kind of shaky feeling,
For who could tell what dangers lay ahead?

How strange it seems: the rooms, the halls, the teachers;
Before we are aware, old father time has ticked off the first happy year.
Again the school bells are ringing;
This year we enter with steadier step;
We observe, with just a trace of smile,
The dear little seventh graders.
This year is proving more glorious than the past,
All too soon another year is gone.

Once again our steps re-enter the dear old school,
This is the third and the last time;
Let's make it the best of all.
This year, too, not to be outdone by the others,
Is full of pleasures and fun,
And maybe a red mark or two.
Now, the question, who will go on to a victorious triumph,
Who will be left behind in the struggle?

The fatal moment has come, an innocent slip of paper
Is thrust into our outstretched hand,
Now it's ended; no, not quite.
Never can we really forget Welty
Never the glorious times we've had,
Its spirit never shall die,
It will go on living forever
In your heart, and in mine.

RADIO REVIEW

This is station J.W.J.H. broadcasting on a wave length of 1-9-3-3. We are presenting our first great annual review.

The opening song, "Baby's Birthday Party," will be sung by our entire chorus of 250 members. Next you will hear the celebrated tenor, James McCartney, in a song dedicated to Miss Flora Gintz, "I Can't Do That Sum."

Our orchestra will now entertain you with two selections, "Examination Blues," dedicated to the Faculty, and "A Stich in Time Saves Nine," dedicated to Miss Cora Schwab.

Miss Florence McLean, noted animal trainer, will speak briefly on the subject, "How To Train White Mice."

At the request of many of our radio friends, the chorus will sing that good old hymn, "Blest Be The Tie That Binds," in honor of Miss Helen Pinsenschaum.

Our youngest radio star, Rosemary (Baby) McGee, will sing "Moonlight on the Hudson," at the request of Elmer Schear.

For our closing number, the entire ensemble will sing "Happy Days Are Here Again."

This is station J.W.J.H. broadcasting on a wave length of 1-9-3-3 and signing off until September, 1931. Until then, Goodbye, everybody.

FOOTBALL GAMES

WELTY—0

LONGFELLOW—25

This was the first game in which most of the Junior High boys played; nevertheless, they showed fight.

WELTY—0

LORIN ANDREWS—13

Welty had plenty of fight. Lucky breaks won the game for Lorin Andrews.

WELTY—2

LONGFELLOW—13

The Junior High boys tried hard to win. Their score came in the last quarter.

WELTY—0

LORIN ANDREWS—25

Welty was out of practice—enough said.

Football for 1930 was not wholly a success from a winning standpoint. Nevertheless, a fair team was produced with only four letter men back from the preceding year. The close of the season found several promising players for the Senior High team of 1931. Bob Horger, Joe Palmer, Ralph Herron, and Paul Hoernemann, all have shown promising ability for the coming year in the Senior High. "Tony" Glass, Harold Stein, Harold Espenchied and Roland Gopp will be back for the Junior High Football Team of 1931. There will be no Junior High football captain for the 1931 season.

The final game of the Ninth Year Volley Ball Tournament was played between sections 9/6 and 9/7. It was a very close game with the 9/6's winning by one point. Section 8/7, who were Eighth Year Champions, played the final game of the season with the 9/6 girls. It was an exciting game with the 8/7's emerging as Junior High Volley Ball Champions for 1930-1931.

POOR POET

Our teacher has assigned us
A poem to write.
Now I know that I
Must write all night.

For when I write poetry,
I perch on a chair,
And stare out the window;
Just stare and stare.

If I'd stare the whole day,
And all the long night;
I'd have nothing to say,
And know nothing to write.

For poetry to me
Is a wonderful thing.
To be made by the gods,
Or at least by their kin.

Since I am no god,
Nor even related,
No poet I'll be
As I've already stated.

—Ruth Swinehart, '31.

COMMON THINGS

Every day in every year,
The common things are those most dear;
The air we breathe, the good plain bread,
The sleep we seek each night in bed.
Go where you will, go east or west,
You'll find that common things are best.

—Winifred Fickes, '32.

DID YOU EVER

Say! D'you ever see two great big eyes
Lookin' at you so awful wise,
When you didn' know your lesson,
An' the eyes knowed you was guessin'?

Say! D'you ever see an awful frown
When you'd been caught playing clown
When you didn' know what on earth t'do,
An' was wishin' the floor'd swallow you through?

Say! D'you ever see a great big hand
Commandin' you t'rise an' stand,
Jus' after you'd been terrible bad?
Say! D'you ever see a teacher mad?

—Helen Borden, '31.

DAWN

Over the golden hills of the east,
Rose the sun in its glory, beaming;
Once again the world awoke from sleep,
It was morning, gleaming.

—Virginia Davy, '31.

MY TOY VILLAGE

I look from my window in study hall,
The houses right near me seem very tall;
Those far away like a toy village seem,
And this is the way I like to day dream.

I think it is fun my toy village to see,
And won't some one please come travel with me,
And see my little village of toys
Where dolls take the place of girls and boys?

Where houses of candy and ice cream are made,
And where the streams are of lemonade?
It never rains, it never snows;
The cold and harsh wind never blows,
All is lovely, all is fine
In that little toy village of mine.

—Eloise Carlisle, '33.

MONKEYSHINES

An organ grinder came down the street
With a cute little monkey whose name was Pete;
As they came near the Junior High,
A boy's red sweater caught his eye,

As he scampered up the water spout,
All the boys began to shout.
Through the window in one big jump,
He hit the desk with an awful thump.

He almost jumped out of his monkey skin
When the schoolbell rang for class to begin;
Then sitting up as a monkey might,
He listened to them all recite.

He went into Miss Culby's room with a prance
As she was assigning the work in advance;
Miss Culby went after him with a broom,
And managed to chase him out of the room.

He ran down the hall, breaking the rule
(If he'd have been caught, he'd have stayed after school).
Scampering and skipping from door to door,
He finally landed on the lower floor.

They chased him 'round and 'round the gym
Until out of breath they cornered him;
His owner came in and put on his collar;
He was a lot of fun, but a very poor scholar.

Moral:

Monkeyshines are loads of fun,
But it's real work that gets things done.

—Richard Harris, '33.

NINTH YEAR FABLE

One Spring day in March a little Gray Herron flew from the Marsh of Underwood to the Ellwood of Stocksdale. Along the way he saw a Blind Miller, a king Fisher, a black Smith, a Sloe Palmer from Humphreville, a Ball, a Shu-maker, and a Swinderman Baker breaking the Frame of an Austin with a Rodd. The Bird said, "Nixon, or your Fait will be Everhard." He also saw a girl and saw Marshall Hurst Getter and Walker and Tucker in jail and lock her in with the Wright Keyes.

HIGH COST OF FLYING

Oh, I have bought a radio,
A little house and lot,
A fur coat and some furniture,
A roadster, and what not.

I'd love to buy an aeroplane,
And fly about the town,
But they have not been offered yet
For just ten dollars down.

—Jane Wise, '32.

HUMOR

Miss Webster: "Who invented the radio?"

John Jenkins: "Why, Paul Revere. He broadcast on one plug."

Examinations We Might Pass

1. When was the war of 1812?
2. Who wrote Scott's Ivanhoe?
3. What two countries took part in the Spanish American War?
4. In what season of the year did Washington spend the winter at Valley Forge?
5. Give a short description of the Swiss navy.
6. In round numbers what was the duration of the Hundred Years War?
7. In short but telling statements, give your opinion of examinations.

Russell Marshall (to coach at a football game): "When are you going to put me in, coach?"

Mr. Brickels: "I'm saving you."

Russell (at the end of the game): "What were you saving me for?"

Mr. Brickels: "I was saving you for the big dance tonight."

Miss Mansfield (in English class): "In what year was Shakespeare born?"

After the silence had become painful, she said: "Open your books. What does it say there?"

Raymond Welling: "William Shakespeare, 1564."

Miss Manfield: "Why didn't you remember that date?"

Raymond: "I thought it was his telephone number."

Mr. Brickels: "How was the Grand Canyon formed?"

Tom Forbes: "A Scotchman dropped a penny in a groundhog's hole."

The Delphian

Ralph Davis (being arrested): "But officer, I'm a student."
Officer: "Ignorance is no excuse."

Miss Milar: "Can anyone tell me why Missouri stands at the head of the mule-raising industry?"

Bright Pupil: "Because it's a lot safer than the other end."

Miss Robb (in science class): "If you are traveling and you think the milk supply isn't safe, what would you do, John?"

John Schneider: "I would take a cow along."

Mildred C.: "Can a person be punished for something that she hasn't done?"

Miss McLean: "Of course, not."

Mildred C.: "Well, I haven't done my English theme."

Mr. Handley (making an explanation in class): "The sun shines on the moon and that gives us moonshine."

Sunday School Teacher: "What is the name of your favorite hymn?"

Arlene Boyer: "Russell Stocksdale."

Mother: "I hear you are always at the bottom of the class. Can't you get another place?"

Johnny Fisher: "No, all the others are taken."

Miss Wilson: "What is meant by the Latin race?"

Marion Groh: "Why, it's a race between a Latin pony and a teacher's goat."

Eddie Maurer: "Got my golf sock on today."

Eighth Grader: "How's that?"

Eddie: "Eighteen holes."
