DEDICATION

The 1966 DELPHIAN is dedicated to
MR. FRANKLIN B. FUERST

In 1942, Mr. Franklin B. Fuerst became the attendance officer at NPHS. Two years later he was promoted to the position of Superintendent of Building and Grounds. This promotion marked the beginning of Mr. Fuerst's twenty-two years as Superintendent--twenty-two years of changes. Under his supervision, eleven coal furnaces became three modern gas boilers, the old sunken gymnasium was torn out and a new physical education building was built, and the entire senior high building was remodeled, adding ten new rooms, all new windows, new restrooms, and new, movable desks.

Always looking ahead, Mr. Fuerst planned for the summer jobs of the janitors at least three months ahead of time. If asked to do something by a student or teacher, he would try in every way possible to get it done. Often Mr. Fuerst would come as early as 5:00 a.m. and stay until 2:00 a.m. the following morning. No matter how busy he was, he always had time to talk.

This year, we at NPHS lost a wonderful friend and worker when Mr. Fuerst retired. In appreciation for every thing that Mr. Fuerst has done for NPHS, we, the members of the Delphian staff, feel that it is fitting to honor Mr. Fuerst by dedicating the 1966 Delphian to him.

FOREWORD

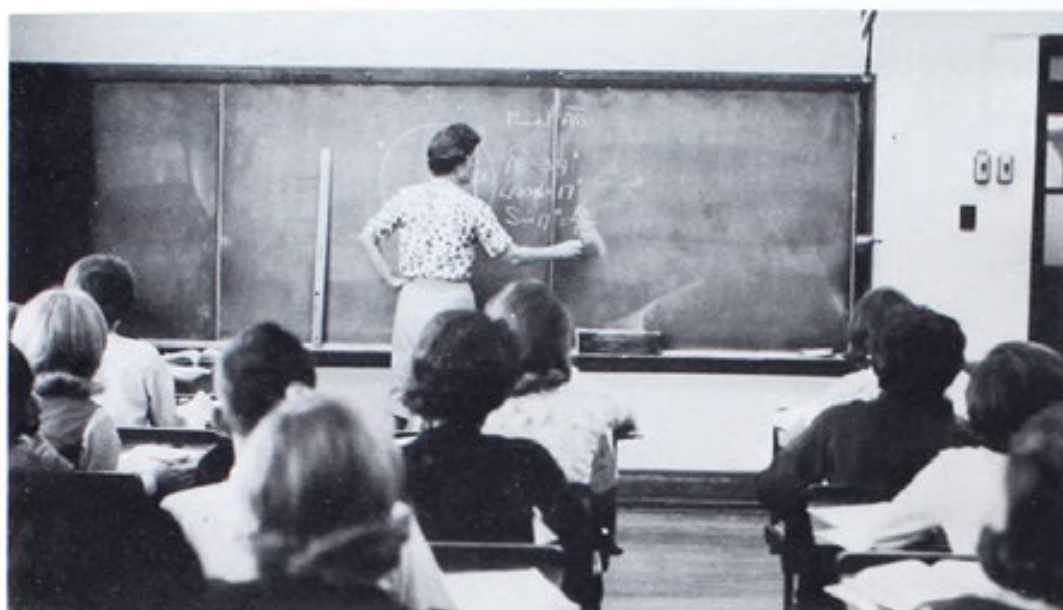

"To everything there is a season and a time to every purpose under the heavens:
A time to be born, and a time to die;
A time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted;
A time to kill, and a time to heal;
A time to breakdown, and a time to buildup;
A time to weep, and a time to laugh;
A time to mourn, and a time to dance;
A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones together;
A time to embrace and a time to refrain from embracing;
A time to get, and a time to lose;
A time to keep, and a time to cast away;
A time to rend, and a time to sew;
A time to keep silence, and a time to speak;
A time to love, and a time to hate;
A time of war, and a time of peace."
Ecclesiastes 3: 1-9

We're born; for a brief time we live and then we die. Somewhere in this lifetime are the memories of the years we spend as sophomores, juniors, and seniors at New Philadelphia High School. These years implant not only knowledge but also character which blossoms within us for the rest of our lives. We learn how to win but more important we learn how to lose. We breakdown when we fail but we find time to build ourselves up to be better. We weep not only when we are sad but also when we are extremely happy. We laugh at the mistakes made by others, but we laugh hardest at ourselves. We know when to speak but we also know when to keep silence. Hating our rivals during the time of war, we love them during times of peace. We know that the memories we gather here will not be cast away, for there is a time for all things.

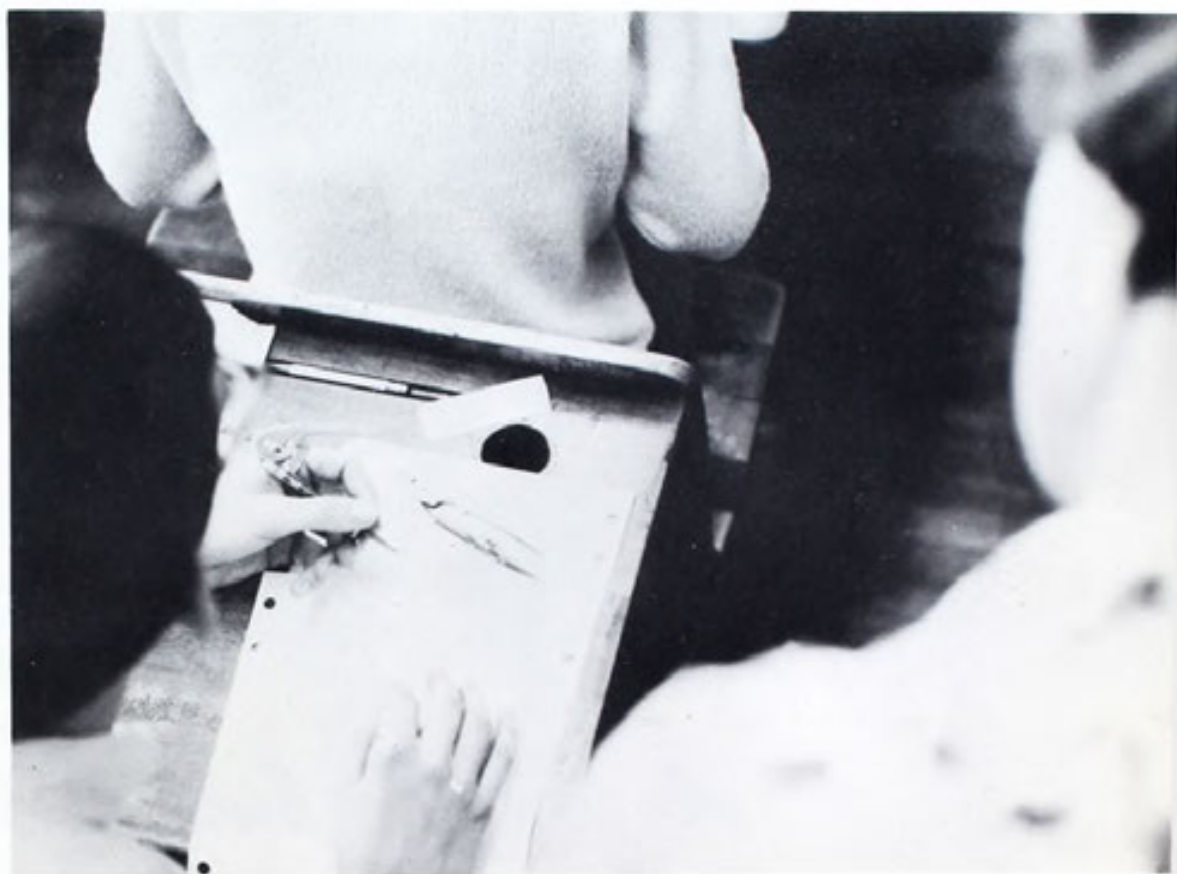

A time to be born . . .

A time to plant . . .

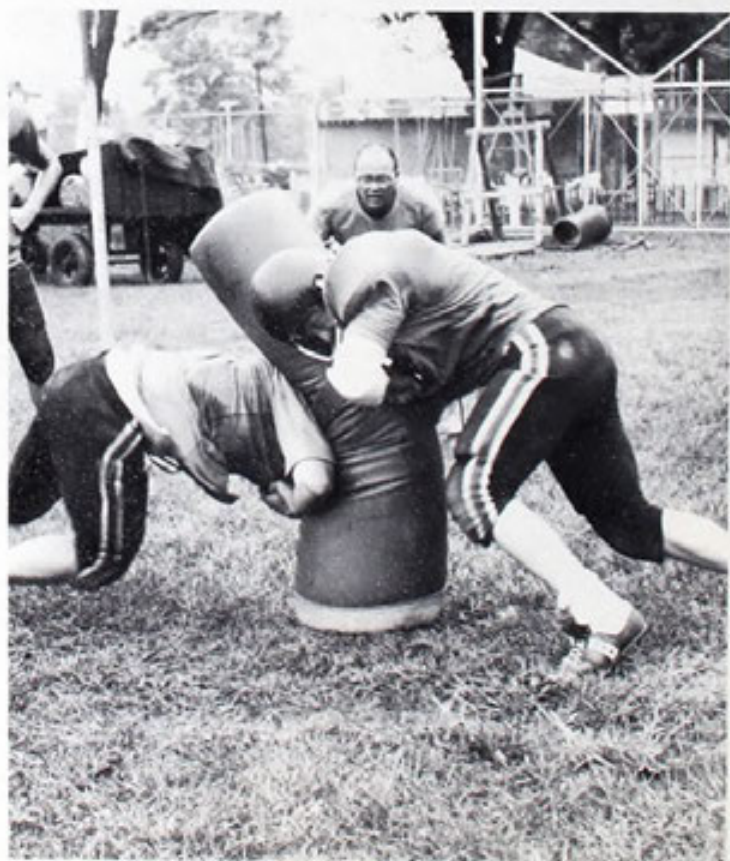

A time to reap . . .

. . . A time to build up . . .

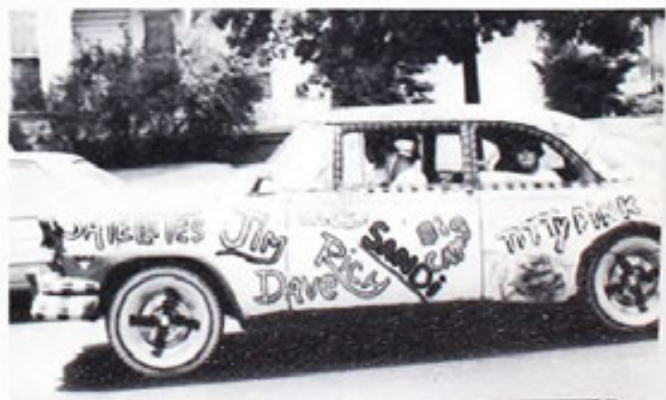

... A time to embrace

A time to weep . . .

... A time to laugh

... A time

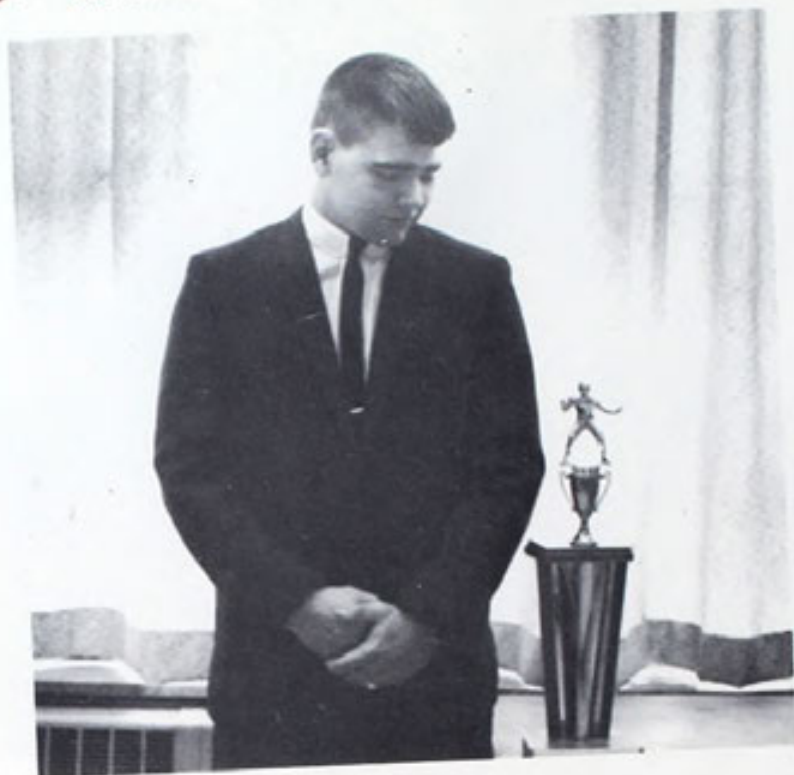

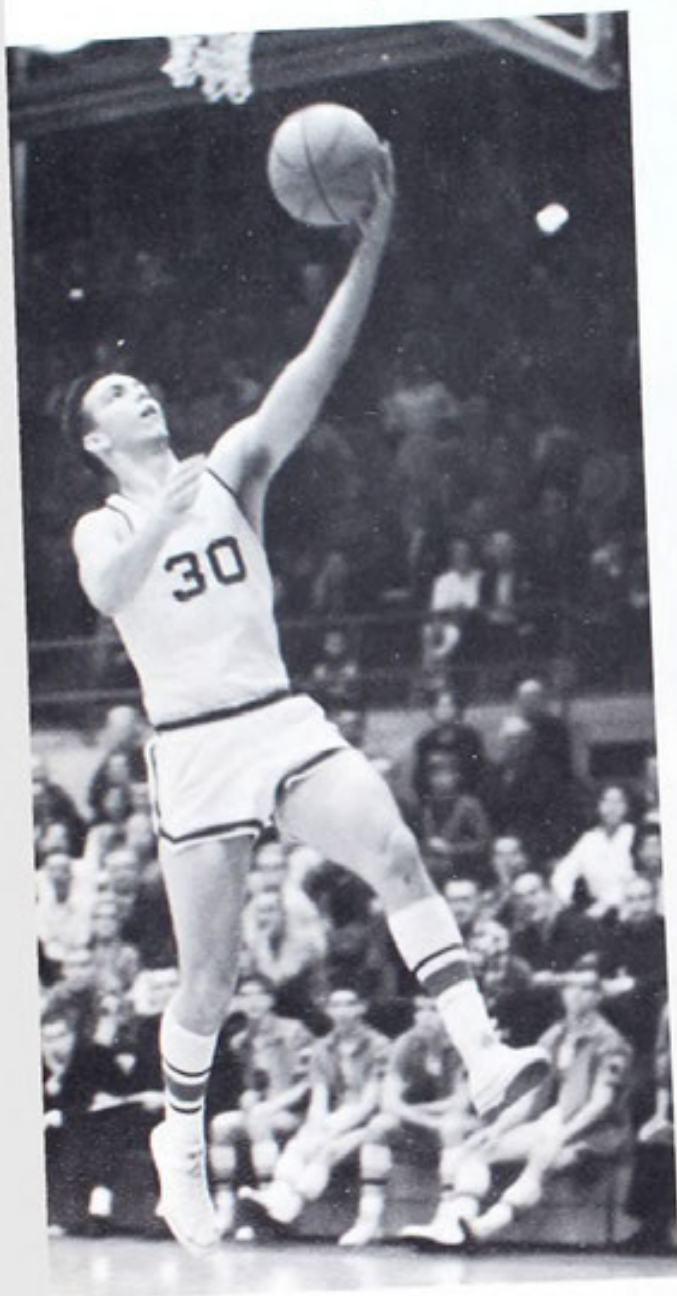

to dance . . .

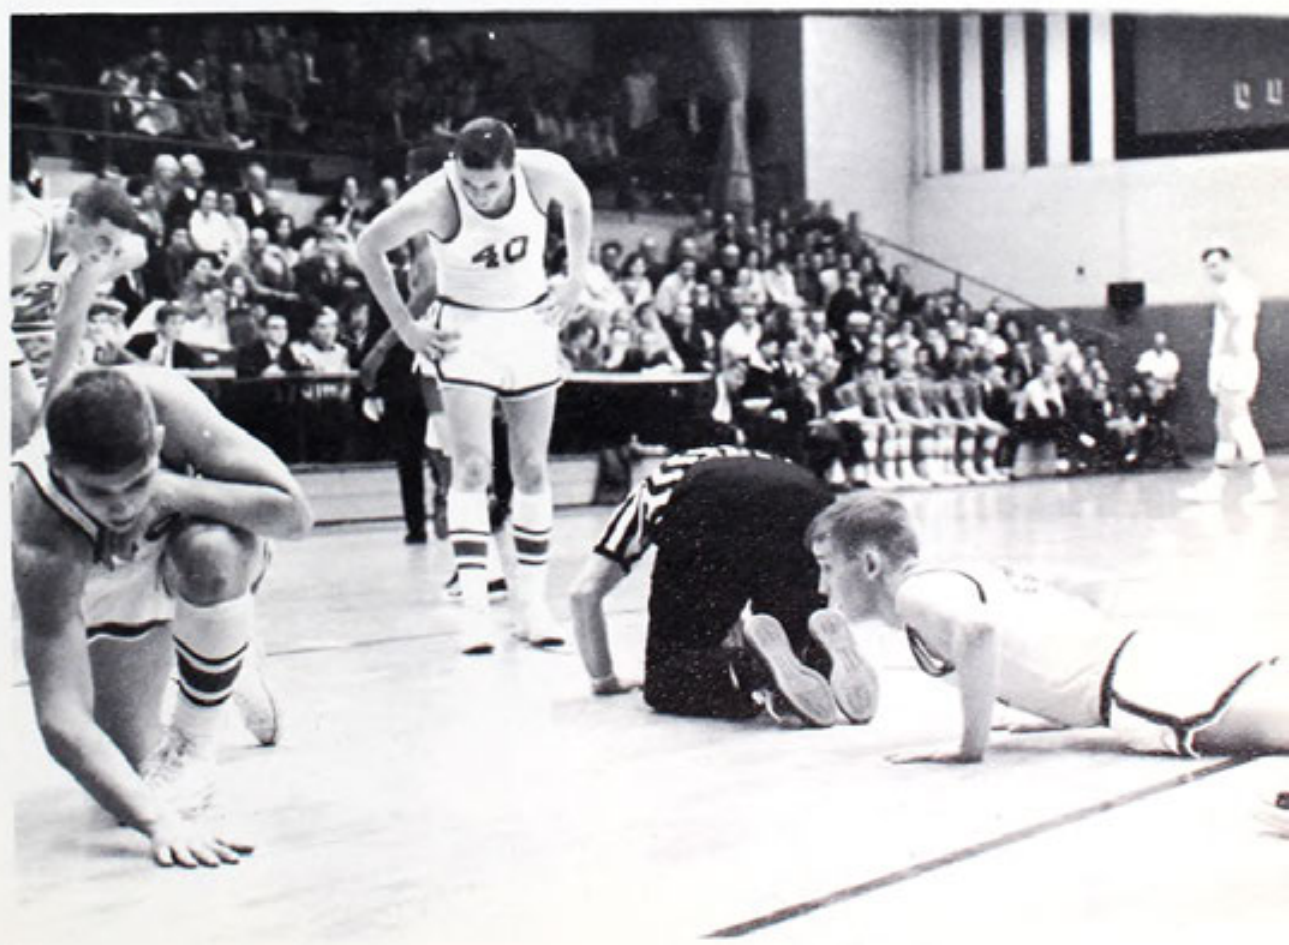

A time to win . . .

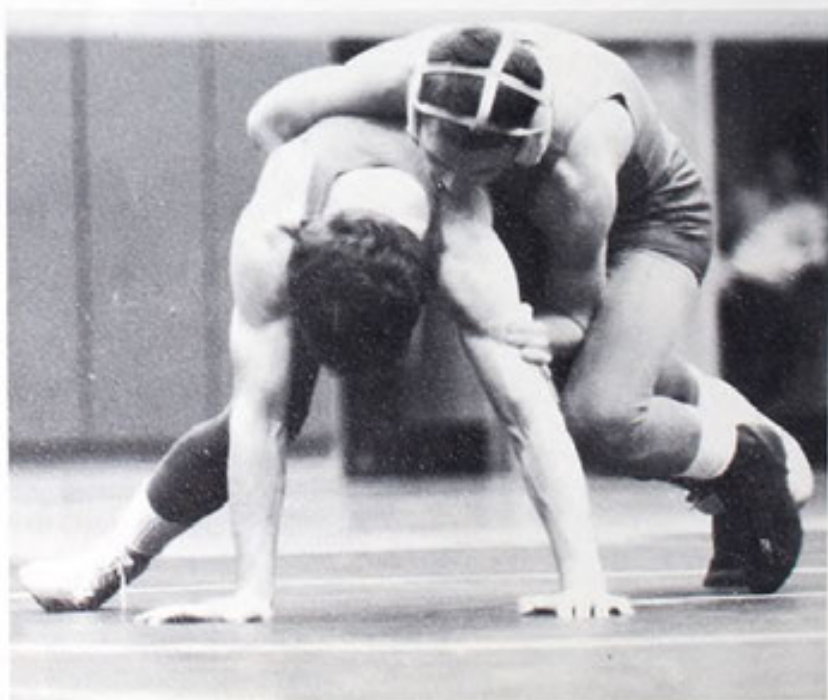

... A time to lose ...

A time for war . . .

*... A time

SUMMER

In summer, thoughts of NPHS and classes are far from the minds of the students, but throughout this season, teachers and office personnel are busy arranging schedules and organizing classes. Because of these efforts, students are able to choose courses which are suited to their individual interests and plans for the future. Students who plan to attend college may choose such subjects as biology, chemistry, foreign languages, and advanced mathematics. New this year was the fact that students were able to take chemistry in their junior year, rather than in their senior year. If a business career is desired, students may take office machines, typing, shorthand, clerical practice, and secretarial training. Because more students were interested in this course, Typing I was offered to sophomores. Boys whose interests lie in the field of mechanics are benefitted by industrial arts, woodworking, metal shop, and auto and related shop. Giving the students a general background are health, civics, economics, psychology, English, history, and speech. When the summer is almost over, and the fall draws near, students' minds again are filled with memories of the past, and hope for the future.

ADMINISTRATION

SUPERINTENDENT

DR. JACOB H. SEE

The administration at New Philadelphia High School includes many persons who are interested in the welfare and education of the students. It is composed of the Superintendent, the Assistant Superintendent, the School Board, the principal, the guidance counselor, the attendance officer, the secretaries, the Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, the cooks and the custodians. These people constantly strive to help New Philadelphia High School students cope with a demanding world and become useful members of society.

ENGLISH

NPBS has a broad program of English, giving each student a chance to study the English level best suited to his ability.

English is required of all sophomore and junior students. They study grammar and literature, concentrating on American authors. These basic courses prepare the student for further study of English in high school.

For the college bound student English 12A provides a thorough study of English literature, grammar and theme writing. Advanced work, consisting of character sketches and research papers, prepares these students for college English.

English 12B is specifically for commercial students. It prepares these pupils for a business career in bookkeeping or secretarial work.

English 12P, or Practical English is for the student who feels he needs more practice in the fundamentals of English grammar and literature.

SOCIAL STUDIES

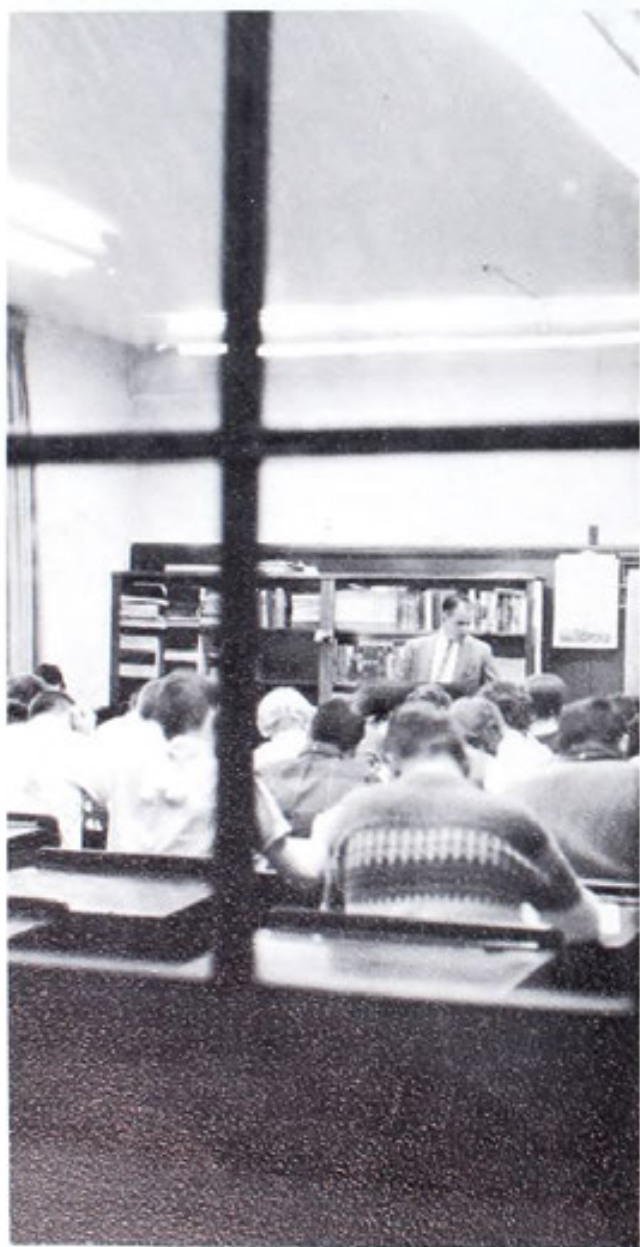

Mr. Al Dunn

Mr. Marvin Fete

To further our knowledge of the world around us, the students of NPHS undertake a wide program of social studies throughout their sophomore, junior, and senior years. World history gives the sophomores a brief knowledge of the entire world, from past to present. Besides their ordinary routine, these students are individually required to study countries which interest them, and to hand in notebooks concerning these countries. American history, which is the study of the development of our country, is studied by juniors and seniors. Having learned about the problems of a young country, and how Americans dealt with them, the seniors engage themselves in civics. Civics, a half-year project, helps the student realize the problems of government which face the world today. To reveal more, the civics classes obtain the New York Times and study it. Movies, slides and records help the student realize the importance of these courses, which are required for every student.

Mr. Dunn lectures on the unification of Italy.

Students take notes on Mr. Zions discussion of the Civil War.

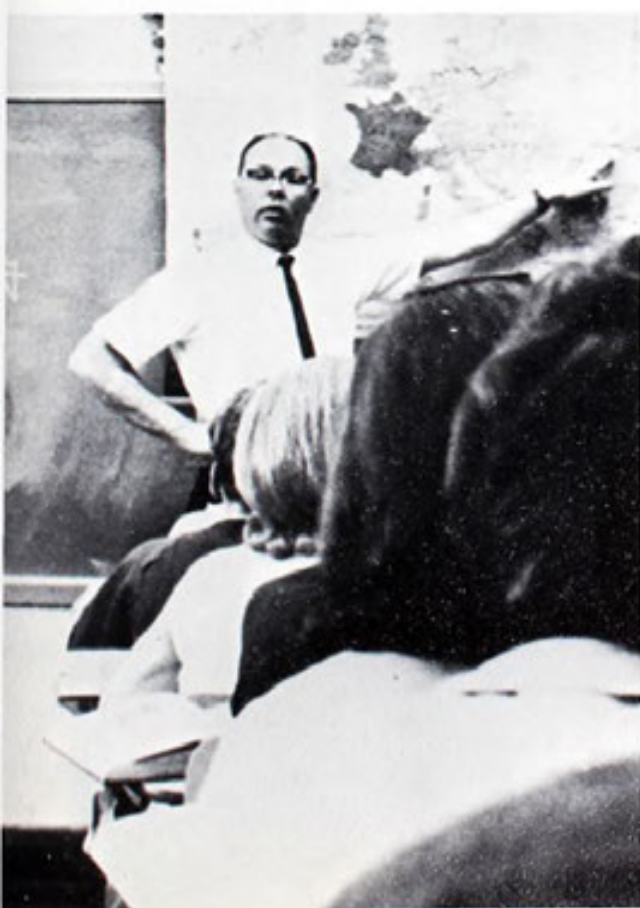

Reading the New York Times keeps the students of Mr. Fete's civics class well informed in current events.

Movies, shown frequently in history classes, are a valuable audio visual aid for the students.

SCIENCE AND MATHEMATICS

Mr. Nicholas Paolano

Mr. Jerry Carmean

Mr. Thomas Belville

Mr. Sidney Parker

Mrs. Sherrill Peters

Mr. Lester Sundheimer

The science program of NPHS includes biology, advanced biology, chemistry, and physics. All of these subjects are made more interesting by the weekly dissecting and experimenting in the lab. The biology classes study plants and animals and their environment. Advanced biology is a more intensified study of the same field. What makes the world go 'round? The physics classes search for the answer when they study matter motion, and the effect of heat, light, electricity and sound on them. The study of chemistry helps the students better understand the composition of substances.

NPHS has many courses in mathematics which give the students a good mathematical background. These include Algebra I and II, geometry, and senior math. Both Algebra I and II deal with letters and symbols to solve for unknown quantities. Geometry consists of both plane and solid geometry, and gives the student several ways of making objects congruent. Senior math aids the college-bound student with higher, more difficult mathematics, including trigonometry and analytical geometry.

On a nature walk, Mr. Paolano explains the different types of leaves.

Mr. Sundheimer explains graphing to an interested Algebra I class.

A chemistry class watches intently as Mr. Bellville explains an experiment on electrolysis.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

Miss Emma Lou Johnson

Mrs. Frances Taylor

French, Spanish, and Latin are elective foreign languages which are offered at NPHS.

In French I, II, and III, students study the culture of all French-speaking countries. French I is the study of basic grammar and vocabulary. French II students apply this knowledge through basic conversation. French literature is the main topic of study and discussion.

Spanish I, II, and III deals mainly with Spanish culture, conversation, and literature. Spanish I and II undertake basic grammar, vocabulary, conversation, and expression. Spanish III students study the Spanish literature, and also undertake the art of fluent Spanish conversation.

Latin I, II, and III students study Roman life and times. Basic grammar and vocabulary are studied in the first and second years. The third year deals mainly with the translation of Roman letters, poetry, and oration.

These languages supply the student with basic knowledge necessary for further training.

Kathy Pierce translates a Latin selection about the death of Catiline.

The language lab helps the Spanish student to speak his language more fluently.

Several commercial courses are offered at NPHS for those students who wish to enter the business world upon graduation. Included in these courses are typing, shorthand, commercial law, business law, bookkeeping, secretarial training, and business machines.

Typing and shorthand give these students the opportunity to achieve speed and accuracy necessary in all modern business offices.

To become prepared for everyday business problems and to learn how to cope with them, the business department provides commercial law and business math, to acquire the knowledge of writing checks, balancing accounts and making out payrolls, bookkeeping can be taken.

As time goes on automation is replacing man power in every field, and to be able to keep up with the rapidly moving world of automation the business machines course is offered.

Typing students practice manuscripts in preparation for their final exam.

Engrossed in her clerical studies, Becky Bucher experiments with a new office machine.

VOCATIONAL

Mr. Lance Hite

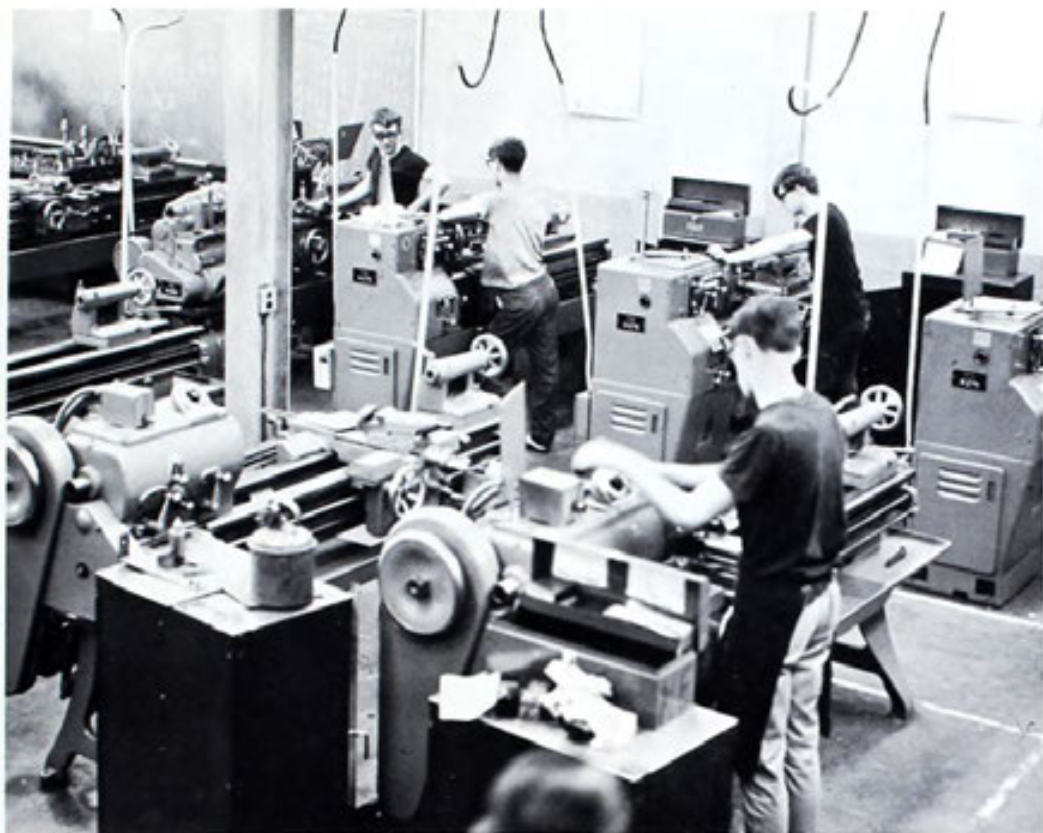

Mr. Robert Gerbetz

Many boys at NPHS have found that the best way to prepare for the future is to enroll in the vocational-industrial courses. Subjects offered in this field are industrial arts, mechanical drawing, metal working, and auto and machine shop. Industrial Arts I introduces the student to the principles of drafting, wood-working, and metal working. This study is furthered in Industrial Arts II, adding an intensive study of metals and electricity. Students taking blueprinting and mechanical drawing are able to get some preliminary training in engineering and in the field of architecture. In auto shop, students learn the fundamentals of auto repair, over-hauling transmissions and engines, rebuilding carburetors, re-aligning front ends, and adjusting brakes. The operation and maintenance of machines is taught in machine shop. By taking these subjects, boys can prepare themselves for jobs following graduation, and often during their senior year.

HOME ECONOMICS

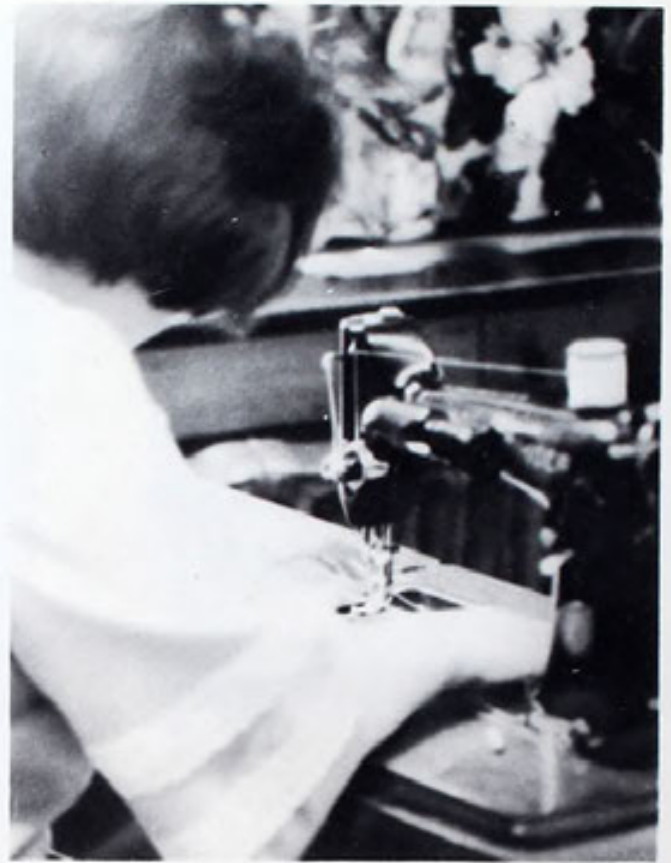

Mrs. Barbara Makee

Mrs. Eleanor Smith

Since many girls plan to marry soon after graduation, NPHS offers to them three years of training in home economics. Girls in Home Economics I study foods, nutrition, and proper table setting the first semester and fabrics and their weave and durability the second semester. Second-year home economics students also study foods and fabrics plus homemaking and schedule planning. Girls in Home Economics III study knitting, child care, and home nursing, for which they receive a Red Cross home nursing card. After taking three years of home economics, girls are well prepared to step into the roles of wives and mothers.

Linda Hunter works hard to finish one of her sewing projects.

Roberta Glazier adds finishing touches to her creation.

Gloria Tate, Mildred Augenstein, and Sharon Amick learn not only cooking but also proper table setting.

Intent upon her work, Shirley Anderson carefully stitches up her project.

GENERAL

Mr. William Kidd

Mr. Leo Benjamin

Mr. Marshall Cassady

Mrs. Wanda Miller

Students in health class apply a splint to victim, Bobby Maus, during first aid instructions.

There are six general courses offered at NPHS in addition to the academic and business subjects.

Health, a one semester course, is required of all seniors. Movies, demonstrations, and a first aid course make this subject an interesting and valuable one to the student. At the end of this course, each student receives a Red Cross certificate in first aid.

The speech course at NPHS gives the student a chance to participate in different aspects of drama, oratory, and debate and teaches them to speak and listen effectively.

Notehand, a one semester course, is a condensed type of shorthand for collegebound students. The purpose of Notehand is to enable the student to take more accurate and complete notes during lectures and discussions.

Psychology and economics, also one semester courses, give those students who take them a better understanding of the people they live and work with.

Art at NPHS may be taken in any or all of the four years of high school, and provides a good basic foundation for further study in art.

Speech students act out a scene from Pygmalion.

For her final oral exam Martha Andres recites five minutes of poetry.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Mr. Sam Miller

Miss Mary Moffit

The modern physical fitness program is exercised in both boys and girls gym classes. This program includes the government recommended physical fitness tests. Through these tests, the physical condition of a student can be compared to other students of the same age. Girls are tested on squat-thrusts, sit-ups, pull-ups, broad-jumping, shuttle-relays, speed-running, and endurance running. The girls are also instructed in personnel hygiene and exercises.

Their active year is climaxed by round and square dancing. These events plus wrestling and tumbling compose a more vigorous program for boys. Both the boys and girls gym classes play basketball, volleyball and baseball. Through this extensive program students build sound bodies and alert minds.

Diane Warner leaps to perform a broad jump to complete the physical fitness test.

Gary Gray chins the bar in gym class.

MUSIC

Mr. Warren Hammond

Mr. Paul Bliss

The music department at NPHS is composed of senior orchestra, pep band, marching band, and junior and senior choirs.

Marching band, under the direction of Mr. Hammond, played at all football games and Christmas, Veteran's Day, and Memorial Day parades.

The Pep Band played under the leadership of their student director, Geoff Cree. The band helps to arouse the school spirit at pep rallies and home basketball games.

The junior and senior choirs sang at various assemblies and programs this year. The senior choir attended the annual choir workshop at Orville and held an exchange performance with Ashland.

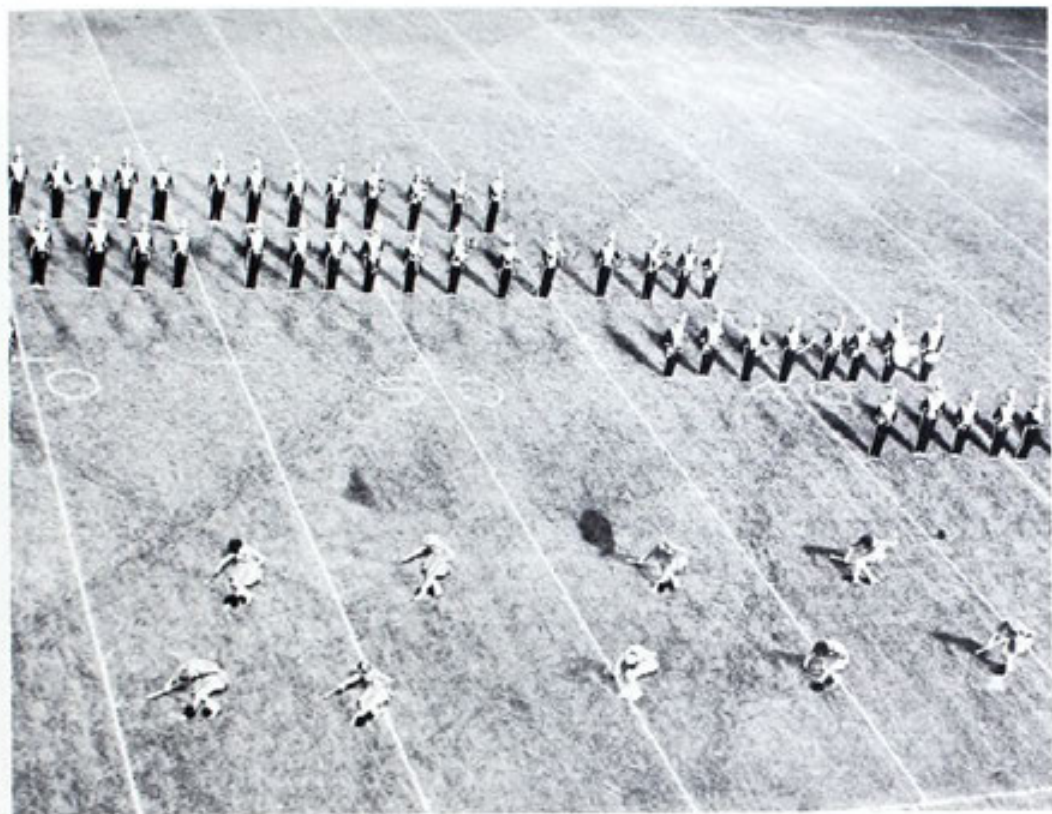

Senior orchestra was very active this year. They played for the Christmas Assembly, the Patron's Concert, the class play, and Baccalaureate and Commencement.

Mr. Bliss draws forth the harmonic sounds of the sections in choir.

Under the direction of Mr. Hammond, the orchestra performs for the audience at the Patron's Concert.

During halftime majorettes are featured in a flashy twirling dance routine to the accompaniment of the band.

Senior choir members provide special entertainment for their parents.

The fall of 1965 began a year fraught with emotion for Quaker followers. The sweetness of victory was soured by several bitter disappointments. The joy of winning the Cincinnati Taft game contrasted the agony of the loss at Ashland. In the final twenty seconds of the Dover-Phila game, the Quaker fans' remaining spark of hope was kindled into flame only to be snuffed out with painful finality. New Phila wrestlers, showing marked improvement, achieved the best record ever in the history of Quaker wrestling. The pride of winning the first Cardinal Conference crown for NPHS was earned by the basketball team. The Quakers held off defending champion Coshocton to clinch first place. Hitting the peak of their season, the Phils brought home a decisive victory over Mansfield Madison. However, the string of victories ended on a heartbreaking note when the Quakers were upset in overtime by an inspired Riverview team. From fall, through winter, and into spring, emotion was an apparent and real influence in every phase of the sports scene at NPHS.

The 1965 Quaker football team carried on the winning ways at NPHS. Coach Al Christopher and his seven assistants guided the Quakers to a record of six wins and four losses. The Phils were in Cardinal Conference contention until the last two league games, but lost out on the first place chances with defeats at Coshocton and Dover.

The Quakers provided local fans with a surprising upset of highly touted Cincinnati Taft. In a tough defensive game, played in sweltering heat, the Quakers held off a late rally by the Senators to win 12-8.

Racing off to their fastest start in eight years, the Quakers were tied for first place in the Cardinal Conference until a crucial defeat from the Roosevelt Robinson-led Ashland Arrows.

L. Richards booms a kick-off to the Wooster Generals.

Incarnato races around end.

Crippled by late-season injuries, the Quakers finished the schedule in a tail-spin. The Phils prepared for the all-important Dover game by crushing Claymont in the first meeting between the Quakers and the Mustangs. Ranked tenth in the state, the Tornadoes were heavily favored to defeat the Quakers.

The crimson and white Tornadoes struck first, scoring on a fake field goal attempt, but the Phils surged back to tie the score. By half-time, the field at Crater Stadium had become a quagmire. Completely controlling the second half, the Quakers grabbed the lead and held it until the last minute of the game. Dover had driven to the Phila three-yard line. Then, in a maddening fourteen seconds, the Quakers recovered the Tornado fumble, lost the ball, and lost a game. The Tornadoes punched the winning touchdown across the Phila goal line with five seconds left on the clock.

After a sluggish start the Phils reeled off ten straight victories, the longest consecutive winning streak since the 1940 state champions racked up an undefeated twenty-five game season.

The Quakers dropped the opening game to Maysville and could not seem to come up with the winning combination until the ninth grade of the year when they defeated Wooster. New Phila then became the hottest team in the conference. Exploding for a season high of ninety-three points at Mansfield Madison, the Quakers maintained a fast pace until the all-important Coshocton rematch. Clutch defensive play and rugged boardwork clinched the victory over the Redskins. However, the Quakers were upset in overtime in their opening tournament action by a tall Riverview squad.

Tom Struchen, second highest scorer in the league, was voted the most valuable player in the Cardinal Conference. He also earned a second team recognition in the Eastern District. Tim Baab was the only junior voted onto the All-Cardinal Conference team. Coache Benjamin was acclaimed as Eastern District Coach of the Year for the second consecutive year.

Quaker wrestlers, under Coach Myers, continued their improvement in 1966. After dropping their first two meets the Phils rallied to win a tie for fourth place in the Cardinal Conference. Dave Voshall was the Conference Champion in the 154 pound class and Rod Reese pinned down first place in the heavy weight division of the conference while Skip Slasor finished fourth in the 103 pound class. Injuries crippled the Quakers' chances for a truly successful season, as Captain Dick Rausch, Rod Reese, and Dick Carlisle were all stricken with injuries.

Stemple rolls away from Madison wrestler.

Record breakers

Heverly breaks the tape to win the 180-yard low hurdles.

Muscles straining, Richards heaves the shot.

Led by the finest pair of distance runners in New Philadelphia track history, the Quakers raced to one of their finest seasons in recent years. Paul Gibson and Bruce Ronald packed the potent punch which paced the thin-clads of Coach Dunn to a record of four wins and one loss in dual meet competition. Gibson ran one of the fastest mile runs in the state, while Ronald finished high among the state's two-mile stars. Weight man, Leo Richards, broke the school record in the discus, and two sophomores, Terry Heverly in the hurdles, and Jay Force in the high jump, also erased school marks.

Porter waits for the pitch.

With only two returning baseball lettermen, the Quakers chances for a truly successful season were slight. To add to their woes, the Phils were plagued by a strange jinx that saw them lose six games by one or two runs. Jim Ashbacher was the team's leading hitter, while the pitching was led by Dave Knisely. Baseball fortunes look bright for the future seasons due to the fact that eight underclassmen lettered this season. With these returning players, Coach Benjamin should be able to field a capable team next year.

With a grimace, Porter swings.

WINTER

Just as the lights brighten the sky on a cold winter night, so do the clubs and activities brighten the lives of students at NPHS. Many clubs, such as the Future Nurses of America, the Future Teachers of America, the Young Business Leaders Club, and the Vocational Industrial Club give the students an opportunity to make friends with those who have similar interests while preparing them for future vocations. The students' lives are enriched and enlightened by clubs such as Hi-Y, Tri-Hi-Y, Y-Teens, and Campus Life, which promote Christian Fellowship throughout the world. The Debate Team and the Speech Activities Club give the students the basic fundamentals of dramatic presentation and the different ways to present a logical argument. The governing body of the school, the Student Council, prepares the students for the time when they will be the leaders of the community. Such organizations as marching band, pep band, and the Pep Club boost the morale of the team while providing enjoyment and entertainment for the students. When the lights are turned off, the sky grows dark, but the clubs and activities of NPHS leave a glimmering memory long after graduation.

The student council is composed of representatives from all sophomore, junior, and senior homerooms. It is an organization of students who serve as representatives in matters of concern to the school. These students learn and practice the principles of democracy. The 1965-66 student council sponsored the homecoming dance, and by contributing time and effort, it helped to promote the "Dollars for Scholars" campaign. Student Council provides training in citizenship rather than for citizenship.

Mike Johnson, president of the student council, calls the first meeting of the year to order.

THE AMERICANIZATION OF TRAUDL

Edeltraud Christine Barbara Motan

Traudl Motan, our foreign exchange student this year, was from Leoben, Austria. As a senior at NPHS, Traudl took English 12A, French III, civics and health, psychology and economics, and American history. Some of the activities she participated in were French Club, Choir, and Campus Life. Upon returning to Austria, Traudl plans to study at the University of Graz, with plans of becoming a teacher or a doctor. Traudl missed her favorite sport, skiing, but she enjoyed both skating and swimming here. She thought our school subjects were easy compared with those of European schools. She commented on our clubs and extracurricular activities, "We don't have any school clubs in Austria and I enjoy these very much. I also like the basketball games." We hope Traudl had a pleasant stay in America and returned home with many wonderful memories.

D. Denmon, B. Doidge, T. Motan, L. Becker, C. Moore, S. Shook, S. Johnston, D. Turner, A. Cramer, T. Heverly. Row 4: S. Kiser, D. Deibel, J. Gibson, D. Estes, J. Fair, F. Galanga, B. Horger, J. Evans, C. Dutton, J. Mancey, S. Bussey.

The Senior National Honor Society is composed of juniors and seniors with a 3.5 average or better. The purpose of this club is to promote scholarship, leadership, citizenship, service and character in the school. Besides being in charge of the paperback book store their activities this year included an induction ceremony for new members and a banquet at the end of the year honoring the senior members. They also visited various colleges and universities. This organization works to increase enthusiasm among the students for excellent grades and gives recognition for their superior work.

The Quill and Scroll Society is a national honorary society for high school journalists. It is composed of junior and senior members of the Delphian staff and of the Central News staff who are scholastically in the upper third of their class, have consistently done outstanding work in some field of journalism, and have been approved by the advisor of the publication. The year was highlighted by the induction of the juniors, which was attended by their parents.

After the induction, Mr. Utsler congratulates Dave Slater as Janie Stevenson looks on.

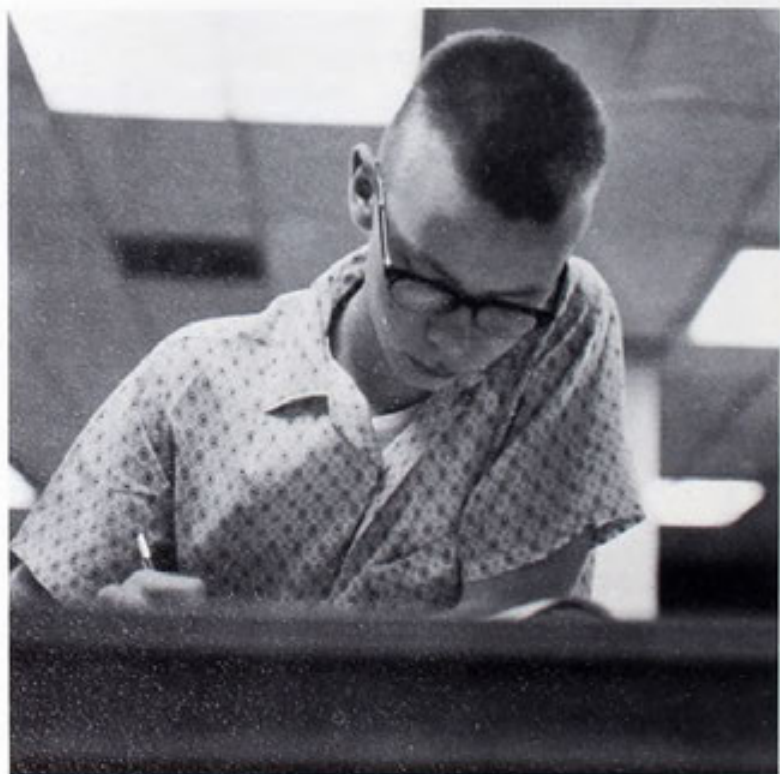

SCHOLARSHIP TEAM

Row 1: N. Elliot, B. Miller, S. Fisher, J. Buehler, L. Cooper, W. Dessecker, A. Maurer, K. Truman, D. Doughten, E. Bair, Row 2: K. Thomas, K. Lile, J. Welz, P. Key, C. Sloe, J. Heathcock, K. Briggs,

The Scholarship Team consists of all those students who have maintained a 3.0 or better through the school year. At the end of their first year on this team, they are awarded a pin or pendant, designed especially for the school. In each succeeding year the number of the pin is changed. By this excellent method of honoring its members, the scholarship team promotes interest for better scholastic achievement.

Joe Fair studies for his final tests.

Brigitte Bardot, alias Fred Galanga, entertains the French Club with her (?) physical aspects.

The French Club, under the supervision of Mr. Zimmerman, is open to all French students interested in the culture, people, and literature of French speaking countries. Because of the careful planning of the officers, the club always has a busy calendar. In September, in the midst of the bustle of the new school year, the French Club was busy organizing their club. In October they held a bake sale. In November, with the profit from the bake sale, they sponsored a dance in behalf of the festive St. Catherine's Day. In December, the club held its annual dinner in the cafeteria, at which French costumes were worn, and only French was spoken.

SPANISH

The Spanish Club is an organization of all students who are studying Spanish I, II, and III. The main purpose of the Spanish Club is to bring more knowledge of the countries and the people who speak Spanish to our members. A point system was begun this year whereby members accumulated points for serving as officers, chairmen of committees, etc. The members who had accumulated a certain number of points received honor pins or certificates. Besides hearing interesting speakers who had traveled to Spanish-speaking countries, and viewing their pictures, the club enjoyed a Fall Fiesta, a Bake Sale, a Christmas Party, a Mexican Fiesta, and a Spring Picnic at which the Senior members were honored.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

Eric Hoffman serves as a substitute teacher at a local grade school.

The Future Teachers of America gives junior and senior students the opportunity to better understand the world of teaching by enabling them to observe the various classes and to substitute for absent teachers in high school and grade school. Their monthly meetings are highlighted by speeches from various foreign exchange students and Dr. See. A banquet honoring the senior members was held in the spring. Through these experiences, the students gain much valuable information about the world of teaching.

Row 1: S. Stocksdale, P. Mizer, C. Francis, L. Graff, S. Edie, E. Hoffman, A. Gowan, W. Dessecker, I. Yarnell, S. Fisher, R. Gray, T. Richards, N. Elliot, G. Richards, L. Cooper, D. Denmon. Row 2: M. FUTURE NURSES OF AMERICA

The Future Nurses Club is open to all junior and senior girls interested in a medical career. Many of these girls learn more about the nursing profession by being Candy Stripers at Union Hospital and by helping with the dental program at the grade schools. Various speakers included an x-ray technician, a physical therapist, and a laboratory technician. In January, Miss Barbara Mertes, Director of Nurses at Massillon City Hospital, showed slides to the group and spoke to them about Massillon Hospital. By being a member of the Future Nurses Club, these girls have the opportunity to become acquainted with the requirements of a career in physical medicine or nursing.

JUNIOR ACHIEVEMENT

The Junior Achievement program consists of sophomores, juniors, and seniors from the New Phila., Dover area. It provides the members with a clearer understanding of its business world and stimulates their interest by teaching them to operate their own business. It's composed of eight different companies, each meeting once a week. At these weekly meetings, members manufacture such products as fender covers, trays, wastepaper baskets, litterbags, and coasters. Besides sponsoring a dance, they held a banquet at which awards were presented for the top salesman of the year, company of the year, president of the year, and crowned the annual Junior Achievement queen.

Junior Achievers Rudi Weber and Glenn Siber busily work on their company products.

YOUNG BUSINESS LEADERS

The Young Business Leaders' Club is open to all students who are taking two or more business subjects. The purpose of this club is to promote interest in the business world and in progressive business machines and practices. Different aspects of business were discussed at the monthly meetings which were highlighted by tours that gave the members an opportunity to observe actual business practices. The club also held a banquet at the close of school.

Row 1: G. Gowins, J. Penrod, M. Rennicker, L. Ellwood, L. Beitzel, N. Eliot, S. Maxwell, B. Dessecker, N. Hinson, B. Loomis, J. Garrett, M. Yost. Row 2: R. Glazier, K. McAbier, S. Sinkovich, M. Dave Rothel and Tom Moesta are acting out a humorous skit for their speech class.

Students interested in the different aspects of drama, oratory, and debate may join the Speech Activities Club. Participating in the district forensics contest and the district poetry and play contest, they competed in such categories as dramatic, original oratory, humor, and poetry and play reading. Two of the members, Debbie Doughten and Kenny Rapport, went on to compete in state contest. The club also sponsored the annual Snow Flake Frolic at Christmas.

DEBATE TEAM

Row 1: D. Denmon, M. Miller, T. Minor, P. Judkins, T. Richards, Mr. Cassady. Row 2: C. Hawk, T. Rickle, T. Kurtz, J. Cree, D. See.

The Debate Team is an active part of the Speech Activities Club. The purpose of this group is to encourage and develop the presentation of well-organized arguments. They held debates with Dover, Garaway, Tuscarawas Valley, Strasburg and other high schools. They also participated in the District Speech Contest.

Exercising his outstanding ability, Kenny Rapport speaks to the Debate Team.

counselor. To "grow as a person, to grow in friendship with people of all races, religions and nationalities, to grow in the knowledge and love of God" is the aim of the members of this club.

CAMPUS LIFE

The Campus Life Club, a new organization this year, tries to promote Christian fellowship and spread the Gospel. At the weekly meetings, the club enjoyed films or speakers. Each Saturday they traveled to Canton to a Youth for Christ meeting. The Club also sponsored various rollerskating parties.

Row 1: D. Rothel, C. Bigler, S. Le Masters, J. Bevan, D. Estes, Row 2: C. Lenarz, J. Hollingsworth, B. Boone, K. Duper, K. Freeman, P. Neiger, T. Motan,

Selected by senior ushers for their poise, congeniality, cheerfulness, and overall appearance, the girls of the Ushers Club are responsible for distributing programs and seating people comfortably at school function, including the Senior Class Play, Commencement, and Baccalaureate services. They should be given much recognition for their kindness and faithfulness in performing these duties.

C. Moesta, T. Minor, J. Grages, D. Jackson, P. Neiger, B. Hahn.

The stadium ushers, consisting of sophomores, juniors, and seniors, volunteer their services to usher Quaker fans to their seats at home football and basketball games.

TRI-HI-Y

Composed of girls from both Dover and New Philadelphia, the Tri-Hi-Y is a religious and social club. The members put forth time and effort to better our community by participating in programs and service projects such as canvassing for the Heart Fund and the United Fund. As a religious organization, the club attended services at various churches in Dover and New Philadelphia. Worship services were held for the senior citizens at the Tuscarawas County Infirmary. Two of the biggest social events of the year, the Sweater Hop and the Spring Formal, are Tri-Hi-Y sponsored. At the end of the year, a farewell dinner was held in honor of the graduating seniors.

These girls are hard at work making flowers for the Spring Formal.

The Hi-Y Club is based on clean speech, good sportsmanship, and a high standard of living. The club's activities this year included the Thanksgiving assembly and a Christmas banquet. They were in charge of the concession stand at the basketball games and sponsored dances at the Youth Center after all the home games. Hi-Y is one of the oldest organizations in the school, and performs services to the school and the community.

Dean Fuerst presents gifts to the advisors, Mr. Zonker and Mr. Twells, at the Christmas Banquet.

PEP CLUB

The Pep Club is mainly responsible for the school spirit before football and basketball games. These girls may be seen at the games boosting the morale of the team and giving pep and enthusiasm to the student body in general. This organization made money from a car wash, and with this money, provided buses for most of the away games. Before the Dover-Phila game, they decorated the halls of the school, and held a kick-off dinner at the Dutch Oven Restaurant.

The Vocational Industrial Club, composed of juniors and senior boys enrolled in auto shop or machine shop, unites vocational students and builds standards for them to follow. The purpose of this club is to stimulate interest in the vocational field of study and to help prepare these students for their future vocations. By building the Dover-Phila. bonfire, members sparked the old rivalry. Again the club fell in defeat to the faculty in the annual VIC-Faculty basketball game. A banquet ended an active year for club members.

The purpose of the Radio Club is to promote an interest in amateur radios and to provide facilities for study of codes and electronics. The Radio Club meets weekly under the direction of Mr. Carmean. Their activities include learning morse code and electronics, and several members built shortwave radios. The club visited the WJER radio station and an amateur teletype station. They also have their own electronics magazine library with over sixty different magazines dealing with electronics and amateur radios.

Mr. Carmean explains the fundamentals of operating a radio.

AUDIO VISUAL

Ernie Allen and Bob Heidenreich assemble a projector for use in a classroom.

Our audio visual department, under the supervision of Mr. Phillips, has been kept busy this year keeping the classes supplied with records, slides, filmstrips, and movies. Besides the usual Spanish, French, and history movies, the seniors witnessed the new Ohio State Patrol safety films. The health classes viewed open heart surgery, while the auto-shop boys learned of new and growing industries. Civics classes discussed current events and the functions of the government with the help of modern movies. Through these modern educational aids, both the teachers and the students have benefitted.

These girls accomplish small tasks which would otherwise mean extra work for Mrs. Keener, Mr. Gartrell, and Mr. Bartholow. The girls who work in the main office perform such duties as printing and stapling tests, arranging and distributing mail, filing, alphabetizing, running errands, typing business letters and taking phone calls. Mr. Bartholow's assistants provide each teacher with a printed absent list every morning and afternoon. With the efforts which are put forth by these girls who give up one study hall each day the functions of the office run more smoothly.

Janie Kilchenman files student location cards as a service to Mrs. Keener.

LIBRARY ASSISTANTS

Ellen Cherry assists Miss Day with the library reports.

The library assistants consists of sophomore, junior, and senior girls and boys who never have a dull moment in the library. Besides keeping the students quiet, they must keep the books and cards organized; they must help students find books for special assignments; and they must help order needed books and magazines. These magazines, which range from Seventeen to National Geographic, help keep the students up to date on current events. These students help to make the library system modern, practical, and efficient.

The hours of rehearsal spent perfecting details of choral technique paid dividends for the Senior Choir under the direction of Mr. Paul Bliss. The choir performed at various functions such as the Elk's Memorial Service, the Warner and Swasey Christmas party, the Patrons' Concert, the Christmas Assembly, a Spiritual Emphasis Week Service, Parents' Night, exchange concerts, Baccalaureate, and the annual Choir Workshop at Orville. Each performance was one of which the entire choir could be proud.

The Junior Choir, composed of sophomores under the direction of Mr. Bliss, prepare themselves for future years in the Senior Choir. Performing at the Thanksgiving assembly, the Christmas assembly, the Patron's Concert, and the Parents' Night Concert, the choir did an outstanding job, showing its ability to change moods and style quickly from one song to another. Members of the Junior Choir joined the junior members of the Senior Choir in their last performance of the year at Baccalaureate.

Junior Choir members rehearse for upcoming performances.

PEP BAND

Pep Band members cheer the Quakers on to victory.

The Pep Band adds a great boost to the spirit of the student body at all home basketball games. Usually members of the marching band, the members of the Pep Band practiced their marches and jazz numbers after school under the leadership of the student director, Geoff Cree. The band also played at numerous pep rallies. Their contribution of sportsmanship and school spirit is highly appreciated by all.

Kneeling: G. Cree; sitting: D. Honaker, J. McCray, D. West, C. McCrea, N. Amick; standing: D. Slabaugh, B. Engel, J. Casebeer, S. Johnston, D. VanLehn, L. Goulder.

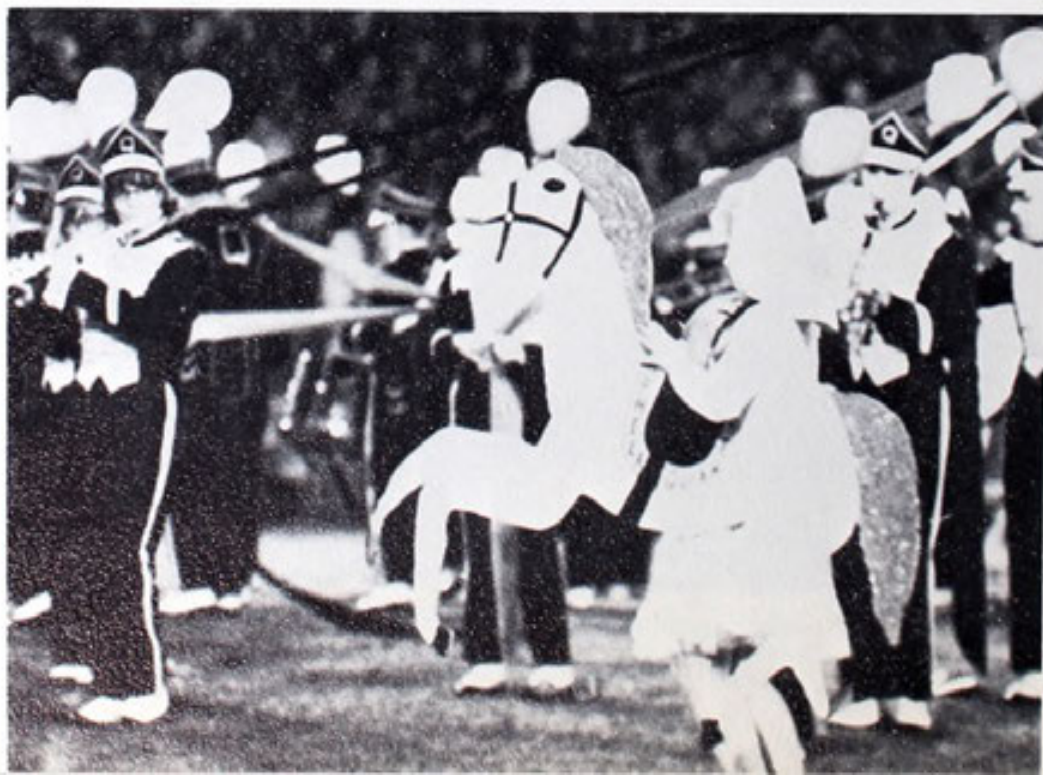

MARCHING

Precision marching and musical ability key-noted the 1965-66 marching band. Hours of hard work, co-operation, and total commitment by the band members proved to be worthwhile at every performance. Climaxing a successful season was the colorful Dover-Phila show, "Mary Poppins." This show was directed entirely by the senior band members under the guidance of Mr. Hammond. The band also marched in the various local parades. A banquet was held at the Elks in the fall, and a picnic was held at Atwood Lake in the spring, where many senior members bid farewell to three years of hard work and fun.

DRUM MAJOR AND MAJORETTES

Adding beauty and sparkle to the half-time shows, the high-stepping majorettes displayed their twirling and strutting ability. After tryouts in the spring, long hours of hard work during the summer and after school was spent in preparation for the upcoming season. Under the spotlight, decked in flashy attire, these girls executed their dances and routines with grace and charm. The majorettes also entertained at the Dover-Phila bonfire, various pep rallies and the VIC banquet.

Bob Maus, this year's drum major, led the band in parades and half time shows. Displaying an excellent job in leadership, he was greatly admired by everyone.

CHEERLEADERS

Come rain or shine, victory or defeat, the cheerleaders can be seen leading the student body in chants and cheers. A vital part of NPHS sports, these girls spark school spirit with their pep and vitality. Besides practicing and planning cheers and pep rallies, the cheerleaders attended a cheerleading clinic at Bowling Green University. The varsity squad, consisting of juniors and seniors, and the reserve squad, composed of sophomores and juniors, work together to boost the morale of both the team and the entire student body.

Reserve cheerleaders are E. Fischio, E. Page, C. Sowers, standing; S. Doughten, arms outstretched; and S. Stocksdaile, kneeling.

Members of the orchestra work hard for future performances.

The senior orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Hammond, enlivened many of our high school assemblies. They played for Baccalaureate, Commencement, and the Christmas assembly. Selections from Carousel, My Fair Lady, and Music Man highlighted the class play. In the spring, the annual Patrons Concert was given by the orchestra and the various branches of the music department. Through their efforts, a true appreciation of music was conveyed to the student body.

Senior Class Presents

"All right, Conchita, concentrate. You're in Rock Hudson's arms and you're doing the cha cha."

"If a Man Answers," a three act comedy, centers around the married life of Chantal Stacey and Gene Wright, a professional photographer. When Chantal finds that married life isn't all that she thought it would be, she seeks advice from her mother, who gives her a book entitled How to Train Man's Best Friend. Treating Gene like an overgrown puppy works well, for a while. Then Tina Brooks, a "friend" of Chantal's, prys the secret from Chantal, and tells Gene with the hope of winning him.

Furious Gene leaves with Tina. Again Chantal seeks advice from her mother. This time they invent an imaginary man, Robert Swan, who sends dozens of roses to Chantal. Chantal's father, who sympa-thizes with Gene, tells him about the scheme. When Robert Swan (really Gene's dashing father) appears, Chantal is thoroughly confused. Gene's practical joke works, and he and Chantal are again united.

SPRING

Just as spring flowers blossom forth, so do classes at NPHS. In the fall, sophomores enter high school as tightly closed flower buds, but with the skillful guidance of the teachers, with the wonder of new activities, and with hope for the future, they begin to "blossom." The juniors resemble half open flowers -- right in the middle of their high school careers. Too old to share the wonder of the sophomores, and too young to join the activities of the seniors, the juniors find a new way of life for themselves -- a life of tournaments, formals, quizzes, and college entrance exams. There are as many activities in the lives of the seniors as there are petals on an open flower. The numerous clubs, sports, dances, and tests keep the seniors busy. All too soon the petals begin to fall as each senior goes a separate way after graduation. The flower is not dead, however, its roots shall remain as memories in the minds of the seniors forever.

A Tribute to Hugh M. Howey

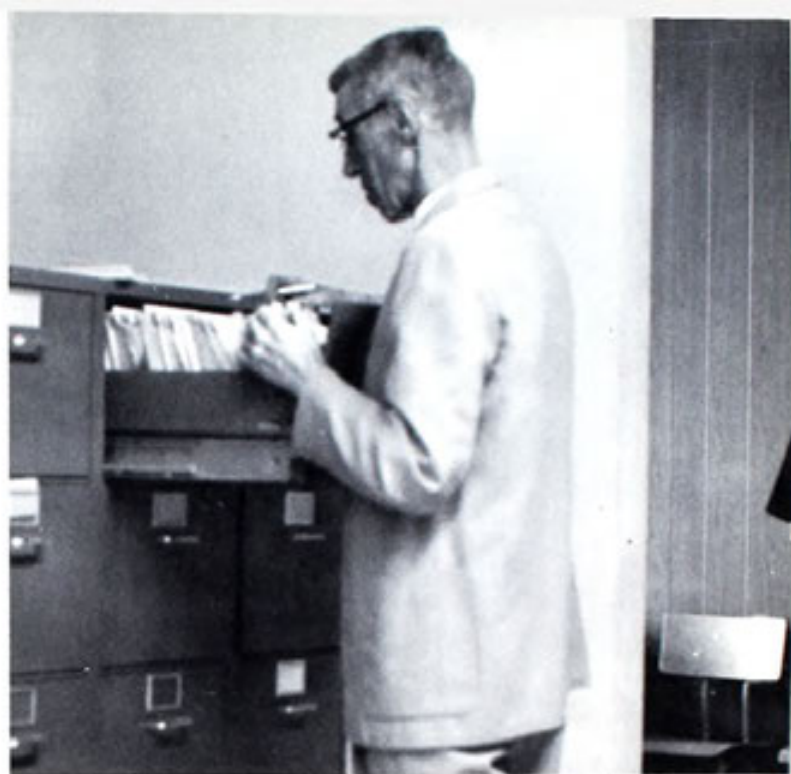

For Thirty-one Years.

Teacher, Principal, and Friend.

A Teacher

In 1935, after receiving his B.S. degree at Wooster College, and his M. Ed. at the University of Pittsburgh, Mr. Howey became a math teacher at NPHS. As time progressed, he taught various other subjects, including sociology, economics, mechanical drawing, Algebra II, social studies, and aeronautics. Throughout his years as a teacher, he also served as class advisor, Faculty Equipment Manager, and Faculty Manager of Athletics.

A Principal

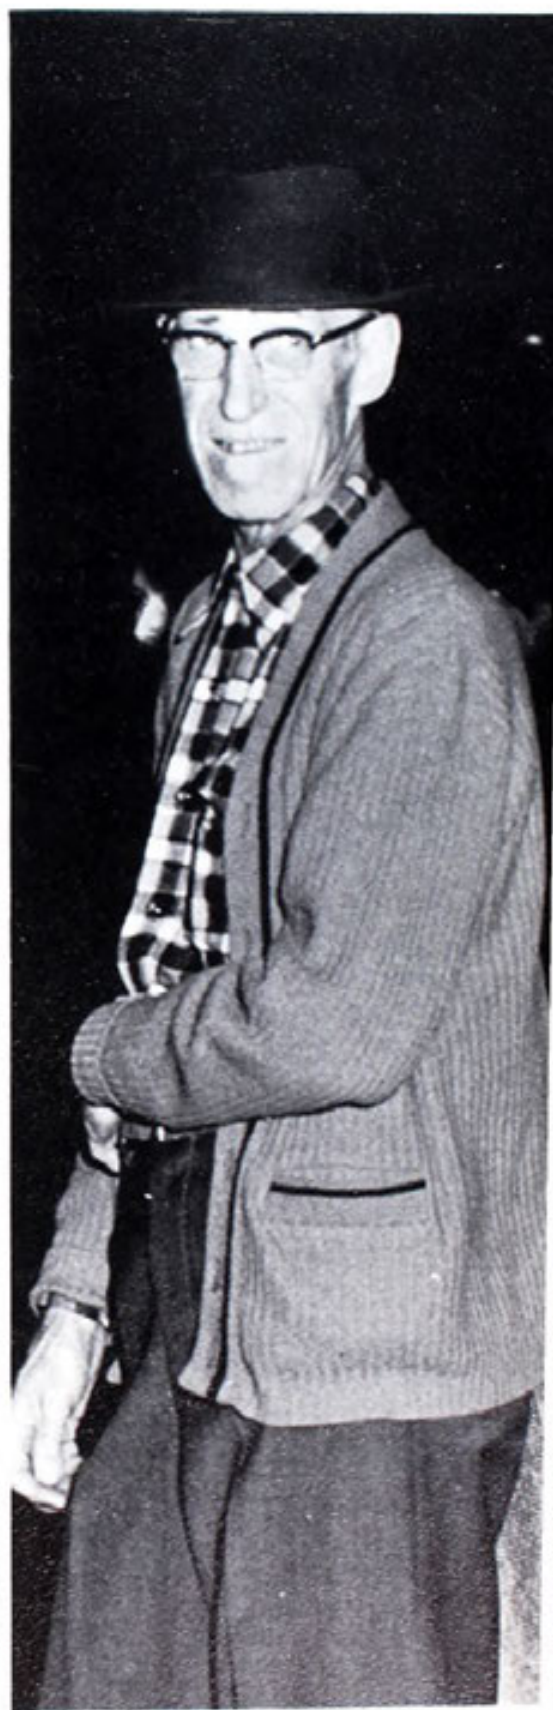

The year 1966 marks the beginning and the end for Mr. Howey--the beginning of a new way of life, and the end of the old as principal.

Life as principal was not always pleasant--there were the usual conferences, lectures, admonitions, and irate phone calls, but life as principal also had its brighter side. No assembly, banquet, or dance would have seemed complete without his lean figure and broad grin. In the fall of 1965, the Stone Creek Local School System became a part of the New Philadelphia system. As students from this area were given a warm welcome by Mr. Howey, it did not take them long to realize the wonderful qualities of this new principal.

Now this life is over, and Mr. Howey must begin anew. To him go our heartfelt thanks for everything and our best wishes for the future.

A Friend

Mr. Howey has been more than a teacher or principal to many at NPHS; to them he has been a good friend. His sympathetic ear and gentle humor make him a good listener. Many times students who knew not where to turn sought his advice and guidance. His frequent announcements over the P.A. sometimes drew a laugh from the student body, especially the endings. Who could ever forget his ending, "Come and have a boss time."? Those who just couldn't understand algebra often went down to the office to see him. He could make the problems seem so easy. There was always time to laugh or talk with a student. Even those who had to be punished did not hold it against him. He had a way of making the offender feel guilty without making him feel angry. Even though he is leaving NPHS, he will continue to be a good friend to all.
