As another year began, things were the same, but things were different. Sure we had classes and homework, but we were connected like no other class in history. Caught at games, or dances, or just hanging out, but always caught together. We enjoyed our individuality but we celebrated our unity.

No matter where we were we were always just a text away. Caught in a virtual net that spread our thoughts and words via cell phones and social media. From our seat at the game or between classes we could connect with each other and share that very moment. It was like being in two places at once.

Like it or not we were thrown together years ago. Many of us began at different grade schools and took different paths but we all ended up here at this place and in this time. All Quakers, all caught in the whirl-wind that was NPHS, and we loved it...

There's no boogie like a boogie in the.....

On October 8th, 2011 over 800 students gathered at the school for the annual Homecoming Dance. Student council decorated the gym with different animals and tropical trees to fit the Jungle Boogie theme. Students were able to watch all of the latest music videos while the DJ played their favorite songs. Rachel Price was declared Homecoming Queen at the Homecoming game the night before and Connor Argento was crowned King at the dance. Everyone slowed it down and joined them in dancing to the song "I'll Be Your Crying Shoulder". "I couldn't believe how many of us stayed for the last dance, we were having so much fun," said sophomore Chloe Barnett.

Unfortunately, as the receiver struggled to escape the grasp of the Dover defender, the pass fell just outside of his outstretched hands. The game ended Dover 21 New Phila 20.

n the fall drama, students took the stage with back-to-back one act plays "The Potboiler" and "All I Really Need to Know I Learned by Being in a Bad Play." Combined, they called it "Actors, Actors." The comedies took the audience inside rehearsals and behind the scenes in the world of acting.

"I buy all my stuff online now. I hate having to actually go to stores and wait in the long lines. it takes way too long and doesn't fit into my busy lifestyle!" Who would have guessed a few years ago that we would be so connected through technology? Texts, tweets, and timelines kept us together this year as friends and students. We were constantly connected through our phones and it seemed to a lot of people that their phones were smarter than they were. Many of us were Facebook junkies, some students even made pages to keep us updated on group agendas. When asked for one thing that they couldn't live without,most students said that they'd die without their phones. Virtual connections have been the most important and influential of all.

Keeping the spirit....

ew Philadelphia is a school filled with spirit. From Football to basketball, and from Soccer to Volleyball, the Quakers always found a way to show their pride. We took spirit to the next level by doing the roller coaster, and by doing a boxing session led by Ethan Wenger. A big thanks to Mr. Leggett and Mr. Gasser, who organized the tailgates before every home football game. Even though we had away games, we still came to watch our fellow teammates by riding the spirit buss which was really fun and enjoyable.

The team stayed focused throughout the year pulling off a winning record of 7-4. They worked very hard and came together as a team making it to the playoffs. Junior Hunter Joseph said, "This year we were more of a team and we were more dedicated." The motto "Tough and together" reminded the players to stay tough and to play together as a team throughout the season. Even though we played tougher teams this year, we still managed to have a great season this year.

The Varsity Quaker basketball team may have been considered young, but no one could deny their talent. The three senior leaders led the team over Dover home and away which hadn't happened in over twenty years, and made it to the Regionals for the first time since 1967! The Regional win put the team in the Elite 8. Behind a great crowd and a valiant come from behind effort the Quakers fell just short of the final 4. The Quakers ended with an awesome season of 19-6.

me of the great things about being a technology teacher is that my job has never been static. As new technologies emerge I have been able to incorporate them into the curriculum. My classes are so much more dependent on computers and software than when I began. Teachers of electives get to apply what students have learned in core classes and add some fun projects. Sound is all around us. There is such joy in music. If you are having a bad day or maybe you are a little run down, a great song can change your mood. The ability to play an instrument is great and its even better when you can play it for someone else. Music makes all of our lives a little better. Electives add to everyone's school experience.

P. U.S. Government is more than just studying the basic institutions and processes of our political system. This class teaches students to have a sense of pride and knowledge about our American government. Almost 100 students decided to dedicate themselves to being informed and responsible citizens. I am incredibly proud of these young men and women and confident that they now possess the skills to be successful in politics and life."

66 have been teaching English 9 for eleven years at NPHS. Since starting my career at Zanesville High School, I have taught all levels of high school English. In that time one of my favorite books I was able to teach was Harriet Beecher Stowe's Uncle Tom's Cabin. I am a fan of reading historical fiction, but I am open to reading whatever comes my way. If there was one author I could meet, I would have to say it would have been William Shakespeare. On the Road Again

Most people think of Canada as that English speaking country to the north but, as members of the French class could tell you, Quebec speaks French. The French Club took a trip in January to Quebec. They toured the city and enjoyed the French-Canadian culture. Some brave souls tried their hand at dog-sledding while others enjoyed a peaceful shopping experience. The goal was to immerse themselves in the French speaking culture to improve their own French speaking and understanding.

Helping Out

The NPHS Key Club let students get involved in community service. They did various things to help the town, from making blankets for the homeless shelter residents to working at the Kiwanis Pancake Breakfast and volunteering at Safe Kids Day. Kids also had the opportunity to help others by joining the A Team. Other than extracurricular clubs, some kids took a period out of their school day to help out by working in the guidance or main office.

Delphian Yearbook

The yearbook staff consisted of six hard working girls. As well as eating all of Mr. Pry's M&M's we also had to do all of our pages before the next deadline. Although it was a hard year for buisnesses we pulled through to get as many ad's as we possibly could. The best part of yearbook was having an awesome advisor, Mr. Pry. Even though we lost all of the phone books we got through it and made it an amazing yearbook.

Student Council

If you had talked to Student Council advisor MIR. Pry she could tell you there was always an activity student council was involved in. Whether hey're planning a dance, selling candy canes, painting signs, or just raising money for a good cause, the members of student council are always busy. Last year they planned a student-staff basketball game, the Jingle Ball and MORP, painted the sidewalk outside of the school, helped families n need during Chirstmas, and raised money for charity by selling Candy-Cane-O-Grams, and carnations.

National Honor Society

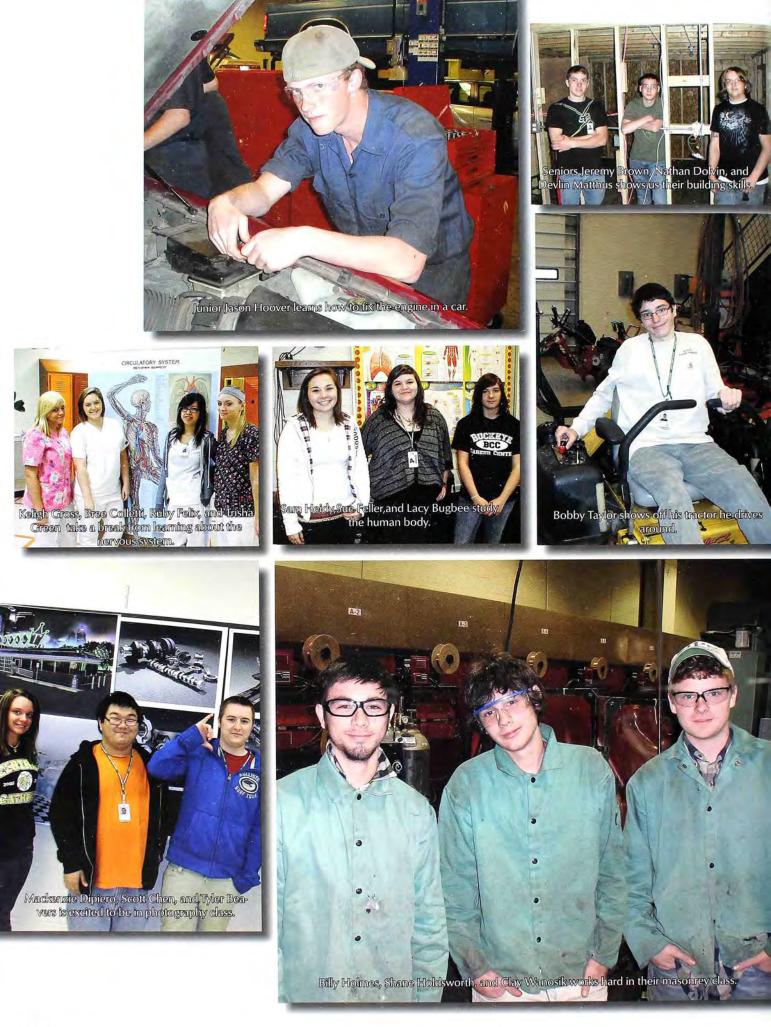

National Honor Society is the one club in the school that is recognized at a national level! It's one of most prestigious clubs in the school and in the nation. In order to be inducted in the group you need to maintain both a 3.5 GPA and be active in the community. You have to be a leader and a scholar. The members of National Honor Society showed off these leadership skills by hosting their very own book fair and donating the procedes to a good cause. "It was great working with Mrs. Claxon during her first year as NHS advisor." - NHS President Preston Goodie

Buckeye Career Center

Buckeye Career Center provided students with knowledge and expertise of many different tech programs that allowed them to obtain a specific career in the future. Students have smaller classes specialized in providing them with the necessary training to obtain employment. Students also have the opportunity to meet other students from different school districts. Students excelled in many different trades gaining skills so that they could get a job or go to a tech school right out of high school.

Choir

From Bel Canto to Delphian Chorale, the choir groups practiced every day to bring music to the community. All 5 choirs performed in the Christmas Concert and Ladies Ensemble also performed at the Cerimony of Carols. The Delphian inspired the football team at pep rallies, delivered singing Valentine's, and sang The National Anthem at various sporting events. Delphian Chorale got a "Superior" rating, which qualified them for state, and Ladies Ensemble got an "Excellent" rating at the OMEA contest. They ended the year with a tribute to the Beatles at the Annual Concert in the Park.

Drumline & Kaleidoscope

The NP Drumline took on a challenge that they had never taken on before; they competed in scholastic open class which meant higher expectations, tougher competition, and a more demanding show to perform. They competed around Ohio in the O.I.P.A and M.E.P.A. circuits and internationally in the W.G.I. circuit and won high scores and honors in all. Kaleidoscope also had a successful year, winning 1st place in 6 competitions with their show Run Fast.

TALENT SHOW

Before leaving for Spring Break, the students were entertained by 12 talented acts. Mr. Spurgeon and Mrs. Miller started it off with a badminton game, and Mrs. Wisintainer finished it by hopping around in the bunny suit. 9 students shared the first, second, and third place awards which consisted of gift certificates donated by local businesses.

KICKIN' IT OLD SCHOOL

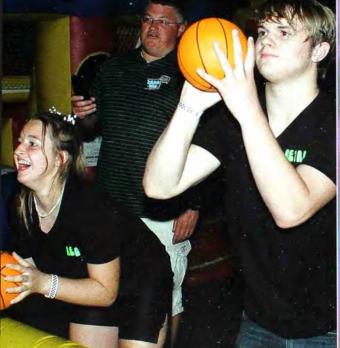

The prom was held at La Pizzeria in Canton. The junior class put in hard work to make prom the best one ever. Those who ate at La Pizzeria enjoyed Chicken or Steak before the dance. Once it began, the DJ included music from this decade as well as past ones to really get students into the "Retro" scene!

POST-PROM

After spending a night at La Pizzeria the students returned to the High School for post-prom. The junior class decorated the gym to fit the "Retro" theme complete with a hippie bus and lava lamps. Students could play games on the inflatables, joust, and play video games to win tickets. Then, the tickets were placed in drawing to win awesome prizes like a TV, Kindle, FlipCam, and mini-fridge.

ACADEMIC AWARDS

During Academic Awards students were recognized for all of their hard work. Instead of valedictorian and saludictorian students recieved honors cords for The Cumlaude, the Magna Cumlaude and the Summa Cumlaude. They had two different groups Freshman and Sophmore and Junior and Senior so people wouldn't have to sit in the auditorium for five hours.

A NEW ERA

As evening fell upon Quaker Stadium, it was the dawn of a new era for NPHS... not just one person was celebrated, but a multitude. Students were eagerly lined up, distinguished for their achievements by their gold, silver, or bronze chord: Magna Cum Laude, Summa Cum Laude, and Cum Laude respectively. There was no longer a single valedictorian, but instead 48 people being recognized. Earlier in the afternoon a passing storm had all wondering if the ceremonies would be inside, but the weather cooperated and treated everyone to a perfect evening with the graduates silhouetted by a beautiful sunset.

ENTANGLE Zach Geil shakes hands with Mr. Nemitz. As we looked back over our years at NPHS we realized that Hilary-Tedrow re-ceives her award we had become parts of each others lives in ways we could never have imagined just four short years earlier. From facefrom Jan McInturf. book to twitter and even old fashioned emails it seemed that we were only a breath away from knowing each others latest status. It was great! It was not so great! Our lives at NPHS had been entangled. As we branched out the net that once kept us safe was now a lifeline to our past. We had formed bonds that could never be broken and would forever keep us in the Gabby Heck received th net that was New Philadelphia High School. Herman/Dalpiaze Leadership Scholarship.
